Sanction 16-Cent Increase

Recommendation For Railroad Engineers, Trainmen, Other Changes

WASHINGTON, April 18—(AP)—An emergency fact-finding board today recommended to President Truman a 16-cent hourly wage increase and changes in working rules for more than 200,000 railroad engineers and trainmen.

The workers, members of the Brotherhood of Engineers and Trainmen, had asked for a 25 per cent pay raise, figuring approximately 30 cents an hour.

The board's findings were made public at the White House in mid-afternoon after the three-man panel, headed by Leif Erickson, former Montana Supreme Court justice had submitted the recommendations to the president just before noon.

The board found that evidence in the case showed that the engineers and trainmen were entitled to the 16-cent hourly increase to compensate for higher living costs.

18 Per Cent Hike

The board calculated the 16-cent boost amounts to an 18 per cent increase over the January, 1941 pay rates and represents the maximum amount allowable under the wage-price formula.

For 45 days the board considered arguments for and against the union's demand for a 25 per cent wage increase, or a minimum $2.50 per day hike. More than 300 railroads are affected in the case.

The fact-finding board declined to discuss what recommendations it had made to the president. However, other government arbitration boards on April 3 recommended wage increases of 16 cents hourly for 1,250,000 other railroad workers.

Girl Marries Former WAC

TACOMA, Wash., April 18.—(AP)—Attractive Marlys Converse, 18-year-old singer, who married and lived as the wife of a former WAC masquerading as a man, says her next suitor "will have to grow a beard before I accept him."

"My 'husband' told me he never shaved because he was too young," Miss Converse continued. "I guess I've been a dope."

Deputy Sheriff Sig Kittleson said that Margaret Hurst, 29, alias Jerome Hurst, and Miss Converse met in his office yesterday and that Margaret admitted having "married" the tiny, blonde Marlys March 4 at Vancouver, Wash. Miss Hurst was wanted here as a violator of a 15-year suspended sentence on a larceny-forgery conviction.

Kelso police who picked up the former WAC Sergeant, after finding her working in her uniform in a restaurant, said she spent nearly four days in the Kelso jail with several men inmates, playing poker with them and winning their tobacco and cigarettes and some $40 cash.

Tacoma authorities, searching for the Hurst woman on a check forgery charge, got in touch with Kelso police, Kittleson said. An examination was ordered and the prisoner turned out to be the woman wanted here.

Plane Refuels At Chicago Private Field

Believed to be One Stolen From Columbia Field

CHICAGO, April 18—(AP)—An employe of an airplane freight and charter company said today a man answering the description of the youth who took a light plane at the Columbia, Mo., airport early yesterday had landed at her firm's private airport, refueled and had taken off again.

The employe, who declined to permit the use of her name, said "We all noticed him because he acted so queerly."

Missouri state highway patrol officers said a youth identified as Vernon B. Simpson, 22, escaped Texas convict, stole a light plane at Columbia, Mo., early yesterday after knocking down an airport guard who had telephoned police. He took off over the heads of startled Columbia police who answered the guard's summons.

Meanwhile Lt. J. S. Poage of the Missouri patrol said that a pilot who landed an army training plane in a field near Nebo, Mo., in Laclede county yesterday morning might have been Simpson.

Description Similar

The pilot was described as a young man about 22 who wore a brown suit, tan sports shirt and had dark hair and eyes — a description which Poage said "fits pretty close."

Flying a silver-colored ship like the one taken at Columbia, the young man got breakfast at a nearby farm house and took off about 11:30 a. m., saying he had only about 60 gallons of gasoline left. He told residents that he was flying the plane from Kansas City to St. Louis.

"It looks like we're about 24 hours late getting the information," Poage said ruefully.

WICHITA FALLS, Tex., April 18—(AP)—Texas airports today were alerted by the state police to be on the look out for a stolen plane piloted by Vernon B. Simpson, 22, who fled from the county jail here last week and escaped again from police officers at Jefferson City, Mo., Tuesday.

The young Texan escaped jail here April 9, shortly after he had been convicted in district court on charges of removing mortgaged property and sentenced to three years in the penitentiary.

He broke away from a deputy sheriff who was taking him from the courtroom to the jail after his conviction.

Phyllis Glover, 19, a companion of Simpson's at the time of his arrest, told officers he gave Monroe, Va., as his home town.

At the time of his arrest, Simpson had in his possession a submachine gun, two German lugers, 14 suit cases of clothing, a typewriter, and other items, police reported.

The sheriff's office said he faced felony charges in Dallas, Laredo, Houston, Abilene and Wharton, Texas.

Review Task Force Maneuvers

Truman to Leave White House Sunday For Full Week's Cruise on Yacht

WASHINGTON, April 18—(AP)—President Truman will go out into the Atlantic Monday to review maneuvers of a carrier task force of the Atlantic fleet.

Press Secretary Charles G. Ross announced today that the President is leaving the White House Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock (EST) for a full week's cruise on his yacht, the "Williamsburg," to include a rendezvous with the Atlantic detachment.

The "Williamsburg," Ross said, will proceed to Norfolk, where it will be due at 6 a. m. (EST) Monday.

Two hours later Mr. Truman will board the carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt and be taken somewhere in the Atlantic to join units of the task force.

To Witness Maneuvers

The President will witness the maneuvers until Tuesday noon, and then return to Hampton Roads aboard the carrier and reboard the Williamsburg at 4 p. m., to resume his "vacation cruise," Ross told a news conference.

Mr. Truman will cruise most of the week in Chesapeake bay, and will return to the White House a week from Sunday.

Ross said arrangements had been made for about 20 newspaper men and radio correspondents to witness the maneuvers from the carrier Princeton, which they will board in Hampton Roads.

Members of Party

The President will be accompanied by members of his immediate staff. They are Reconversion Director John W. Snyder, Fleet Admiral William D. Leahy, his chief of staff; John R. Steelman, a special advisor; Secretaries Ross and William D. Hassett, Col. Wallace Graham, his physician; Richmond Keech, administrative assistant; Brig. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, military aide, and Capt. Clark Clifford, naval aide.

Admiral Marc Mitscher, with his flag on the Roosevelt, will be in command of the maneuvers.

Ross said the President will be in position to be in direct radio contact with the White House throughout his absence and that necessary work will be carried on.

Dived to Avoid Collision

WASHINGTON, April 18.—(AP)—Two passengers in an Eastern Airlines plane were slightly injured today, when the pilot put his ship into a vertical dive to avoid colliding with an unidentified aircraft 6,000 feet above Trenton, N. J.

Capt. Joseph Kelly, veteran pilot, told a reporter the other plane was possibly a navy plane, flying at the wrong altitude under civil aeronautics clearance.

When the plane landed here at 12:04 p. m., Mrs. Edna Williams, 38, of Atlanta, Ga., and Mrs. Aida Simon, 38, of Mexico City, Mexico, were rushed to Alexandria hospital, near National airport, for "preventive" examination.

Captain Kelly said the combined speeds of the two planes as they neared one another was more than 400 miles an hour. He said he had to dive so suddenly that the 21 passengers had no time to fasten their safety belts and were thrown around in the plane.

Fire Starts From Oil Stove

Fire, believed to have started from a coal oil stove, caused more than $1,300 damages to the residence of Frank Molden, 127 East Hogan street, about 11:35 o'clock this morning. The loss was estimated by Assistant Chief William Middleton as $900 to the house and $400 to contents.

The fire started in a kitchen, and appeared to have been caused when an oil stove flared up. There was no one in the residence at the time and it was several minutes before it was discovered.

The fire had gained considerable headway before the fire companies arrived on the scene.

To Sleep or Not to Sleep Is Question

By the Associated Press

To sleep or not to sleep that extra hour during the summer months is being debated by a number of Missouri cities.

Jefferson City residents had the matter decided last night when the council voted to move the clocks up an hour at 2 a. m. April 28. It will be in effect in the capital city until Sept. 29.

Several cities, among them Marshall, have requested Gov. Phil M. Donnelly to adopt daylight saving time in the state, but the chief executive said he had no authority empowering him to do that.

Several cities have been guided by sentiment expressed in straw votes. The Poplar Bluff city council dropped the matter after a poll showed a majority in favor of no change. A straw vote at Fulton favored the change, the council drafted an ordinance but the matter was tabled until April 25 when additional opposition showed up.

The council in Kansas City is drafting an ordinance, but before the body acts public hearings will be held. Kirksville is taking a poll. Cape Girardeau was in the midst of one when the city council voted not to adopt daylight saving time.

Salad, Costly, Housewife in Alaska Finds

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Apr. 18—(AP)—A housewife newly arrived from the States ordered the ingredients for one standard sized salad today without asking the prices and wound up by paying $16.20 for the dish.

With Alaskan ports closed to incoming produce by a longshoremen's strike for higher wages and retroactive pay, bananas cost 75 cents per pound, lettuce 75 cents per pound, tomatoes $1.10 each and cucumbers the same.

Freight planes are flying in some supplies and the strikers have given permission for fishing boats to carry produce north.

Telegraph Hoover To Return

Truman Wants Him To Tell American People Need for Food for Europe

WASHINGTON, April 18 — (AP) — President Truman "suggested" to Herbert Hoover today that the former president return home to lay "forcibly and dramatically" before the American people the need for food in famine-stricken Europe.

Hoover has been touring Europe as honorary chairman of the famine emergency committee. He is now in Cairo and had been expected to go from there to India, China and Japan. Mr. Truman proposed in a telegram to Hoover that he return to the United States before proceeding to the Orient.

Mr. Truman and Hoover will go on the air tomorrow night at 7:15 p. m. EST., (6:15 p. m. CST) to tell the entire world of hunger conditions in other lands. Hoover will speak from overseas.

The President's telegram to Hoover went out as a British-Canadian deadlock over ways to ease the world food crisis held up an order putting the United States on a diet of less bread and flour.

Appeal to Farmers

Mr. Truman also appealed to farmers, grain cooperatives and other handlers of wheat to help make the "wheat certificate plan" work and get the grain from farms to ships.

The plan will permit farmers to obtain certificates for delivery of grain, but receive pay for it at some later date at the price then in effect.

In a telegram to N. W. Thatcher, president of the National Federation of Grain Cooperatives, St. Paul, Mr. Truman said:

"I want all the farmers in the Northwest and in the nation to know that their government is earnestly backing the program of sending wheat abroad to help those peoples who now are facing the dangers of mass famine. The wheat certificate plan, if widely accepted by farmers, can become a powerful instrument in getting wheat off the farms into ships for export.

Strong for Plan

"I am strongly for this plan. It is carefully drawn to safeguard the interests of the wheat growers. Now that it has been adopted I ask all farmers who hold wheat and all grain cooperatives and other handlers to give their collective help in making it work out in practice to produce the actual wheat that is so deeply needed. All those who give that help will earn the gratitude of hungry people in many lands."

British, Canadian and U. S. representatives on the combined food board met yesterday, but failed to agree on what each country should do to provide more wheat and flour for relief feeding.

Chips, Famous War Dog, Dead

PLEASANTVILLE, N. Y., April 18—(AP)—Chips, famed war dog cited for his exploits in the invasion of Sicily, is dead.

The six-year-old canine hero who went to war in the K-9 corps after biting a Pleasantville garbageman succumbed in a veterinary hospital.

Chips, a mixture of husky, Shepherd and collie, wore a Silver Star on his collar and was recommended for the Distinguished Service Cross on November 19, 1943, by Maj. Gen. Lucian Truscott for:

"Courageous action in single-handedly eliminating a dangerous machine gun nest and causing the surrender of its crew."

At the time, Cpl. William Haulk, Chips' handler, wrote the 100-pound animal's owner, Edward J. Wren of this village, that the dog charged an Italian pillbox in Sicily when enemy gunners opened fire on invading American soldiers.

Haulk said Chips leaped at the throat of an Italian machinegunner, forcing him to surrender. Three other Italians also gave up. Chips was wounded.

Chips had been ill since last November.

Bowles Deplores Action, States it Begins Joyride to Economic Disaster

WASHINGTON, April 18 — (AP) — The House voted overwhelmingly today to continue OPA for nine months, but in a form OPA administrator Paul Porter said would wreck price control. It was one of President Truman's worst legislative defeats since he entered the White House a year ago.

The roll-call vote on passage was 355 to 42.

The House, meeting at 10 a. m., wo hours earlier than usual, tossed the amendment-ridden bill over to the Senate, where the White House said today that President Truman hopes for "much better results."

Asked at a news conference if the chief executive had any comment on the House amendments, Press Secretary Charles G. Ross told reporters:

"Not for print."

Asked if the President was going to "do anything about it?" Ross replied:

"He hopes for much better results in the Senate." He did not elaborate.

A bloc of Democrats, chiefly from the south, combined with Republicans yesterday to so amend the bill that Chester Bowles, economic stabilizer, said the House had started "a joy ride toward economic disaster."

"Murdered O. P. A."

Earlier, the House refused, on a 370 to 20 roll call vote to shelve the continuation bill, rejecting a motion by Representative Rankin (D-Miss.) to send it back to the banking committee.

Before the final vote was taken Representative Sabath (D-Ill.), 80-year-old dean of the House, shouted to his colleagues:

"You have murdered OPA!"

OPA Chief Porter estimated that if the agency collapses because of congressional amendments, consumer prices might skyrocket as much as 50 per cent over present levels.

On final passage by the House, 205 Democrats, 148 Republicans and two minor party members voted for the bill. Opposing were 33 Republicans and nine Democrats.

Bowles termed the measure "impossible" after a 35-minute conference with the President.

Asked by White House reporters if he would resign in the event it passes both houses in its present form, he would not say. He did say, sowever, that he did not see "what could be done" to main price controls under it.

Wants Price Control

As to whether there was any discussion of a vet with the President, he told reporters he couldn't say.

"We want price control," he declared. "Price control would be impossible as the bill stands now."

Major Clauses

The bill's major clauses now call for prices guaranteeing "reasonable profit" to all manufacturers and distributors; scrapping government food subsidies; repeal of the low-cost clothing production program, and an end to the "cost absorption" controls limiting prices on autos, radios and the like.

Economic Stabilizer Chester Bowles deplored the House measure as the beginning of "a joyride toward economic disaster." OPA Chief Paul Porter said if the House Action is sustained by the Senate it "amounts to repeal of price control."

But the house, having missed out on a final vote late last night after a stormy marathon session, expected to toss the bill as is over to the Senate in short order. Whether it will fare better in that body was problematical.

Indeed, so great was President Truman's congressional set-back on economic policy that rumors swept the capitol that both Bowles and Porter would resign. However, Bowles went on a radio network and declared he expected to "see this thing through to the finish"

Expect Resignation

Nevertheless, close friends of the two men predicted privately later that they would resign "without question" should the House bill become law.

"What possible reason would they have for staying on?" asked one associate. "What was left certainly wouldn't be price control."

Only rent control survived the House rebellion unscathed. The chamber beat back all efforts to revise rent ceilings.

"You have murdered OPA," Rep. Sabath (D-Ill.) shouted at his colleagues.

Recreate Crucifixion Ceremonies in Holy City

By Carter L. Davidson

JERUSALEM, April 18—(AP)—Through streets lined with barbed wire barricades and teaming with armed troops, thousands streamed into this ancient city today to see Christian worshippers recreate with symbolic ceremonies the last hours before Christ was crucified.

An undercurrent of tension prevailed throughout the Holy City as Palestine's three-cornered Arab-Jewish-British political controversy was complicated by a country-wide strike of 50,000 civil servants, who are demanding increased pay and better working conditions.

A three-hour walkout in sympathy with the strikers, was set for today by several thousand persons employed in special wartime departments of the Palestine government.

Authorities Alert

Although so-called Terrorist groups have been idle for the past few days, there was no relaxation by authorities, who remained alert against any possible outbreak. Arab Legionnaires, with automatic rifles slung over their shoulders, mingled with the colorfully garbed celebrants of the sacred rites of antiquity.

Easter observance of the western and Eastern Christian faiths coincide this year, making the Holy Sepulchre site and other sacred places more crowded with worshippers than usual.

The ancient rites of Maundy Thursday began at daybreak and will continue all days as sect after sect stages its interpretation of the events of the day on which Christ led disciples into the "upper room" for "the last supper."

There were virtually no American uniforms to be seen and only occasionally one of the other allies, who formerly had made Jerusalem a popular furlough spot.

The Daily Washington

Merry-Go-Round

by Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON, April 18—American diplomats literally burnt up the wires between New York, Washington and Teheran to prevent Iran from withdrawing its dispute from the security council agenda. But they faced a tough customer and they got nowhere.

U. S. diplomats were interested in the all-important problem of strengthening the United Nations and building up machinery for world peace. Iran, on the other hand, was interested in escaping with its hide reasonably intact.

All last week, U. S. diplomats tried to show Iranian officials that the issue was bigger than just a fracas in a dusty, desert country.

First, the U. S. charge d'affaires in Teheran called on Premier Ghavam and urged that Iran keep its dispute before the United Nations until Russian troops were withdrawn May 6.

Premier Ghavam, however, was quite frank in admitting he was ready to yield to the Russians. He said that if Iran didn't withdraw its case from the United Nations, all the good work Iran had done to soothe its Russian relations would be undone. He appealed to the United States to understand Iran's position in the matter. After some argument, however, he finally agreed that he would delay giving instructions to Ambassador Ala in New York until he receive further word from Secretary of State James Byrnes.

Simultaneously, Ed Stettinius in New York talked to Ambassador Ala in order to stiffen his backbone. Ala, however, needed no stiffening. His backbone — at that time — was like a ramrod against withdrawing Iran's case from the security council until Russian troops are withdrawn May 6.

He told Stettinius that he had asked Premier Ghavam for an explanation of the Teheran statements that Iran was ready to withdraw its case. Ghavam, he said, had described these as "just the report of the irresponsible press."

In the end, of course, Ghavam did exactly what the "irresponsible press" reported him as ready to do, and ordered the Iranian case withdrawn from the United Nations' agenda.

NOTE—Premier Ghavam owns considerable property in the Russian sphere of influence along the Caspian sea, has become wealthy during the war partly through the Russian favors.

British Policy on Franco

British delegate Sir Alexander Cadogan has issued a denial of this column's recent report that London had instructed British diplomats at the security council to postpone or complicate procedure on the Spanish issue until Franco could work out a compromise in Spain.

While this columnist naturally did not dream up the text of the British cables on Spain, we are delighted to carry Sir Alexander's denial, which follows in full:

"That part of Mr. Drew Pearson's column purporting to quote from foreign office instructions sent to me on the Spanish case now before the security council is not only inaccurate; it has no foundation in fact whatsoever. I have received nothing remotely like the so-called instructions revealed in this column. It seems a pity that the American public should be so grievously misled."

It is interesting to note that just a few hours before Cadogan issued the above denial, he sent round to all British diplomats in New York and hastily called in the texts of the previously distributed cabled instructions on Spain. It will also be interesting to watch future British policy on Spain and see whether the American public has really been so "grievously misled."

Bilbo on New York

A New York acquaintance encountered iron-tonsilled Senator Theodore Bilbo of Mississippi bustling down the corridor from his office.

"Well, I see Life magazine has been giving you some free publicity," said the New Yorker.

"They can keep it," blustered The Man. "That blankety-blank magazine is always attacking me. I wish those New Yorkers would stay the blankety-blank out of my affairs and Mississippi politics."

"Don't take it so hard, senator. You can't ignore New York. It's the greatest state in the union."

This was too much for the pint-sized senator.

"New York—bah!" he raged. "Listen, why don't you get your two senators, Jim Mead and Bob Wagner, to introduce a resolution permitting New York to secede from the union. There wouldn't be a shot fired against it!"

Chinese Jig-Saw

It was a tribute to Gen. George Marshall that both sides in the bitter Chinese struggle for power telegraphed Washington asking that Marshall come back immediately. That was the inside reason for the general's sudden departure for China.

You are going to hear a lot more about Chinese strife during the next few days and weeks. The job of putting the jumbled jig-saw of Chinese politics together looks almost impossible.

During Marshall's absence from China, the American embassy in Chungking cabled the state department urging that nothing more be done regarding the proposed $500,000,000 loan to China, since this is about the only bargaining weapon which can be held over Chinese heads.

Both factions would benefit by the loan and state department strategy will be to hold it up until both sides can get together.

Capital Chaff

President Truman has received reports from many steel mills that because of the coal shortage they will have to shut down after next week. . . . Republicans are not shouting about it, but they have raised $2,000,000 to win congress next November. That's more money than the Republicans have ever spent on any non-presidential election. . . . Some people are wondering how far the doors of Atlanta, Lewisburg and Alcatraz will be "paroled" open in the future, now that T. Weber Wilson, the Mississippi blarney expert, has become head of the federal prison parole board. . . . Looks like Texas will have several new congressmen. Bill McGraw, former law partner of Attorney General Tom Clark, will run for the vacant seat of Hatton W. Sumners. . . . Tommy Tyson of Corsicana will run for the district left by Luther Johnson when Johnson went on the court of tax appeals.

Merry-Go-Round

Beauteous congresswoman Clare Luce of Connecticut may exercise a woman's prerogative and change her mind about getting out of politics. Friends are urging her to run for Admiral Hart's seat in the senate. . . . Certain big business firms, especially those having Nazi cartel arrangements before the war, have been pulling strings to curtail the budget of the senate Kilgore committee. That committee has done more to prevent the rebuilding of a Nazi industrial war machine than any other agency in Washington. Yet for some strange reason, Senator Scott Lucas of Illinois, considered a good senator, has fallen for the wire-pulling and has cut the Kilgore committee's budget. . . . Penguin Press is turning out 1,000,000 copies of Lowell Mellet's "Handbook of Politics and Voters' guide." It contains the records of senators and congressmen up for re-election.

Puts the 'Squeeze' on Formosa

Tragic face of Taiwan is reflected in the faces of these two coal miners—barely eight years old. While they labor most of Formosa goes cold, unable to pay breath-taking black market prices of "liberation" market.

(Editor's Note: This is the third of four dispatches from Formosa by Harlow M. Church NEA-Acme Far Eastern Manager, who flew from Shanghai for the first camera-typewriter study of Taiwan since it was closed to Occidentals by the Japs in 1936.)

BY HARLOW M. CHURCH
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

TAKAO, Formosa (NEA) — "Squeese" is the watchword of Chinese rule in Formosa today. The corrupt, graft-ridden administration, in its six-month-old occupation, is an arresting picture of democracy at rest—if not in exile.

American occupation forces secured the island after the Japanese surrendered and turned it over to Chinese forces when their first troops landed on October 5, 1945. Government by "squeeze" has been in active operation ever since.

One of the first acts of the Chinese administration was the seizure of the Japanese-owned Taiwan Development Company, the Japanese government sponsored monopoly corporation that completely controlled the purchase and sale of the island's principal products—rice, sugar, coal and camphor—as well as the bulk of the island's imports. The Chinese Governor General, Gen. Chen-Yi, a former war lord of Fukien Province, China, promptly appointed his nephew, To Hsi-Yu, as head of the corporation.

Next, the Chinese government took over all of the Japanese Army and Navy rice stores. All of this, the told the Formosans, was to assure sufficient rice for the Chinese occupation troops. They didn't point out to the Formosans that the Japanese had a two-year supply of rice for their 250,000 troops and that the the Chinese occupation forces totaled something less than 50,000.

Rice and Coal

The Chinese-controlled Taiwan Development Company then purchased the entire 1945 fall rice crop which had just been harvested at two yen per kin, a Chinese weight unit that equals 133 pounds This move didn't surprise the Formosans because the company, when controlled by the Japanese, bought the island's entire rice crop, with the exception of the amount needed by the growers for their own needs, then offered the rice for public sale at four yen per kin.

The Japanese used the company's profits on these transactions to purchase commercial fertilizer needed by the rice growers to assure a good, two-crop-a-year yield that fed the entire island and still allowed 50 per cent of the crop to be exported to Japan.

The Chinese government promised to administer the company in the same manner, but the administration has been a singularly one-way affair. The rice is bought at the two yen price, but then disappears from the public market. Formosans must purchase rice on the black market and pay from 18 to 20 yen per kin. The Chinese, when queried on this subject, blandly pointed to their laws, which, in theory, established municipal markets throughout the island for the sale of rice and other official monopoly products. If one of these markets actually exists, there's not a single Formosan who knows its location.

Coal sold to the monopoly vanishes in the same mysterious way. Mine operators, who must sell their entire product to the company, are paid 200 yen a ton, which gives then a margin of 20 yen profit over and above actual production costs. But the only coal available in the island is that purchased through the black market for 2000 yen a ton or is shipped to Shanghai, where it brings better than 3000 yen a ton. Even figuring the value of the yen at its highest black market rate—100 to one U. S. dollars—you'll get an idea of the breath-taking profit.

Caustic Formosans, who suffer severely from the lack of coal, point to the American Marines who guard the coal rail lines in North China and suggest that Marines could do the Formosans a favor by guarding Formosan coal after it is mined.

Sugar

Sugar is one of Formosa's greatest products. In 1940, she produced some 14,564,000,000 kin. The sale of sugar is also handled in the same manner by the Taiwan Development Company, and it suffers the same fate as rice and coal. The farmers are paid 130 yen a piyo (roughly 185 pounds) but it is available to the public only through the black market for 3000 yen a piyo!

Last November, for reasons not obscure to the Chinese, the government ordered all 1000 yen notes deposited in a special account with no withdrawals permitted for one year. One week was permitted for the deposit of the notes, during which time 1000 yen notes sold at a fraction of their real value. Formosans now holding certificates of deposit for their money are forced to sell them at terrific discount when they need cash to cope with the ever-soaring price of living.

These are just a few examples of squeeze in the upper financial brackets. Formosans complain that similar squeeze exists in various proportions from the highest government officials right down to the lowest clerk in the least important government bureau.

More than 94 per cent of the population of Formosa are of Chinese origin. The ties of blood and the special tie of worship of their Chinese ancestors still holds them to China. But often the tie wears thin, especially when hunger acts as a goad.

At Tainan, angry Formosans broke into a warehouse and burned 70 tons of sugar. At Taichu they burned another warehouse and 30 more tons of sugar. Truck loads of rice, destined for government warehouses, have been stopped on the road and the rice removed. As a sardonic gesture, the mobs pay the drivers four yen a kin, the Japanese retail price even during the hardest of the war years.

Not all of the Chinese officials are involved in the squeeze. Some are so disgusted and horrified that they've turned in their resignations. Even those who privately disapprove are forced to exercise the weight of their position because their salaries, fixed by the Chinese central government, couldn't possibly begin to cover the expenses of living.

The hard-pressed Formosans still profess loyalty and devotion to China and hope that the new Chinese constitution will make Formosa a regular province of China and that the provincial government will be led by Formosans.

But a visitor to Formosa will hear this remark made in conversations with the Formosans the length and breadth of the island: "The Americans were kind to the Japanese," they say. "They merely dropped atom bombs on Japan. They dropped the Chinese government on Formosa."

Formosan women harvesting rice still smile — probably because they can keep some of what the y grow. But most of their harvest is never seen by the rest of Form osa, except on the black market. These are more exclusive photos by Harlow Church.

Dual victims of the squeeze in Formosa are the coal mine workers like the women and children at work above. Coal must go to the Chinese monopoly at 200 yen a ton, is sold back at 2000 yen a ton.

Looking Backward

SAN FRANCISCO, April 18 — San Francisco was practically wrecked by an earthquake at 5:13 this morning. The shock lasted three minutes. Thousands of buildings were damaged or destroyed. The loss of life is reported to be great. There is no water and fire rages all over the city. All wires with the exception of one are gone. The terror and excitement is indescribable.

SAN FRANCISCO, 8:50 a. m.—A disastrous fire has broken out on the south side of Market street and is now within a block of the Palace hotel. The water mains burst and the fire department is practically helpless. The utmost confusion exists. All business is suspended.

SAN FRANCISCO, 11 a. m. — The Postal Telegraph Co. is preparing to vacate its building. This will shut off all telegraphic communication with the outside world. The whole city is threatened with destruction. The whole north end is wrecked. Flames are spreading in all directions.

The first news of the earthquake in San Francisco today was received by Frank S. Leach, manager of the Queen City Telephone Co., and was bulletined in the window of the Democrat counting room. Later the Associated Press messages were summarized and also bulletined, thousands of persons stopping to read them during the day. At 2:05 o'clock the Democrat had an extra on the street, which Johnnie Kuhn and his staff of newsboys disposed of as fast as they could be handed out and this was followed by the regular edition of the Democrat at 4 o'clock.

The Democrat is authorized to announce Asbury Goodknight as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for circuit clerk of Pettis county.

Percy Walker, the Missouri Pacific machinist, will give a dance at the Sedalia College of Music hall Saturday night.

COLIN drove the car into the garage in the basement of the Medical - Dental Building, and Ann said, "I'll meet you at Frederick's in an hour or so. I don't know how long I'll be."

"Oh, I'm coming up with you," Colin answered.

"But why, Colin? It's silly for you to come up."

"Oh," he answered airily. "I understand that women always fall in love with their obstetricians, and I want to look him over and find out if he's worthy of you."

That was the last very clear memory Ann had of the day. She saw the doctor, and the next thing she knew Colin was driving fast to the hospital, trying not to show his alarm. "But after all," Ann said, "lots of people have toxemia. I've read lots about it—it isn't necessarily dangerous. Not when there's a good doctor in charge."

Later, when she was in bed, and momentarily unattended save by Colin, some of his obvious panic infected her, and she remembered more of what she had read about toxemia. "Look, Colin," she said, "if I look as if I were going to have a convulsion, shove a towel between my teeth, will you?"

Colin rang frantically for a nurse, and when she appeared, said:

"Get me a special nurse, will you? Three of them, so she won't be left alone."

The nurse was calm. "If you'll come down to the desk—" she said.

"And leave my wife?" Colin's voice was anguished.

"I'll stay with her. She's all right. You just run along now. You'd just be a nuisance here. Wouldn't he, Mrs. Drake?"

* * *

ANN was weak, but bound she would talk. "Colin, don't you think it was smart of me to have twins, seeing as we can't have any more? Don't you think so, Colin?"

"You're a smart girl, darling—no question about it," Colin answered, uneasily wondering how Ann knew, so soon, that she couldn't have another child.

"Are they beautiful, Colin? Does the boy look like you and the girl like me?"

Colin had seen those two forlorn scraps of humanity before they went into the incubators, and privately thought he had never seen anything so awful in his life. He couldn't tell Ann that, of course. The poor lamb was going to have a tough enough fight as it was, without knowing that. He was silent so long that Ann worried, and, weak as she was, became insistent. "What do they look like, Colin?"

"Just—just like babies," he answered feebly. They didn't of course. They looked like nothing human, but at least he could tell Ann they looked like babies. By the time she saw them, they would have improved. They couldn't fail to improve some.

* * *

ANN was getting impatient. She was feeling pretty well, and she wanted to be up and around. Most of all, she wanted to see her children. Children—it had a nice sound. Much nicer than child, really. She was proud of herself for having two at once.

"I want to name her Margaret," she said. "I hope she'll be as nice as Margaret Duncan. And, Colin—would you—I mean, do you want to name him Colin?"

"I'd rather not. Not unless you especially want it. I think it's a handicap to a child to suffer under the indignity of 'Junior.'"

Ann nodded wisely.

"I do, too," she agreed. "Of course, Colin's one of the fancy names you're supposed to avoid in naming your children, anyway—but—well, I've always liked Michael for a name—although it's another one of the fancy ones—but after all, there's your father to name him after. I think Michael Drake is a nice name—Michael Drake, Second — much better than Colin Drake, Junior. Won't we be a nice family, Colin? Practically ideal, I think. A boy and a girl—why, nobody could ask for anything more."

"I couldn't," Colin said.

* * *

ANN and Colin were sitting on the rug in front of the fireplace, each holding a baby. Margaret and Michael, perhaps a little backward because of their poor start, were just beginning to walk, at fifteen months. Michael clutched Ann's outstretched finger desperately, while Margaret was hanging onto both Colin's hands.

The twins had reversed Ann's express desire. Michael looked like her, and Margaret like Colin. "Colin, do you s'pose she's going to have your nose? Your nose is perfectly lovely on you, but it would take an awful lot of character for a girl to live down a nose like that!"

"She's going to have a lot of character," Colin said pridefully. "And she hasn't got much nose of any sort yet."

Ann leaned and kissed the back of Michael's neck. "Be a big man and walk to Daddy," she murmured to him.

At the same time Margaret let go of Colin's hands, and the two babies staggered drunkenly toward each other, passed, and with a final burst of speed tumbled flat, each into a parent's lap, where they were picked up and hugged.

Ann kissed Margaret, and looked across to Michael, who was clambering up to Colin s shoulder, his father's hand holding him steady. She looked around the room, and found it good. Here within her reach was everything she could ever want. And suddenly she knew a great truth, that had been developing a long, long while, and finally had blossomed into something incredibly beautiful.

"Colin," she said softly," I do love you."

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph William Murphy, of Kansas City, formerly of Sedalia, have issued invitations to the marriage of their daughter, Rose Elizabeth to Mr. William Raymond Hill, on Monday, April 22, at 10:00 o'clock in the morning, at Our Lady of Perpetual Help church, Kansas City.

"Conservation of Natural Resources" was the discussion subject of the LaMonte Friendship club when it met at the home of Mrs. Harvey J. Smith last Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. P. S. Craig, president, conducted the business session. Mrs. J. E. Noland read a note from Margaret Gregory thanking the club for her trip to Jefferson City with other students of the Sophomore Pilgrimage. "I Love a Tree" was read by Mrs. C. N. Moore as the inspirational service.

The conservation program led by Mrs. R. E. DeFrain, chairman of conservation, was opened with a discussion of "Why Conservation Rules" by Mrs. J. D. White, who explained work of conservation officers and displayed a facsimile of the badge worn by such officials. "All county sheriffs and constables are deputized and may arrest any person violating conservation laws," she stated.

"Missouri Forests" was the topic of Mrs. C. N. Moore's address in which she pointed out that if the forests of the state were used intelligently, the wood would provide the needs for the entire population of the state and provide employment for a large part of the people in the poorer sections of the area.

Mrs. DeFrain spoke on "Fish Hatcheries" and work of the Nature Knights of juvenile organizations who have assisted the state in building bird facilities and planting shrubs and plants for wild life.

Mrs. Smith described forest fires in north Minnesota, where she lived before going to LaMonte.

The Fine Arts committee will be in charge of the program at the next meeting, to be at the home of Mrs. Clyde Swope.

Miss Iris Dierking, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dierking of Sweet Springs, and George Shinaberry of Canton, O., were married at 4:00 p. m. Saturday at the home of the officiating minister, the Rev. George Munding. The service was read by candlelight.

Miss Dora Jane Hall of Kansas City and John Shinaberry were attendants.

The bride was formerly an employe of the International Shoe company of Sweet Springs.

The couple will reside in Canton where the bridegroom is an employe of the Hercules Motor company.

Miss Virginia Rea Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raphael Hall of Sweet Springs, and Lester Land, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Land of Kansas City, were married the evening of April 13 at the home of the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Chaffee, of Kansas City. The Rev. Ferris of New Arlington Methodist church performed the ceremony.

Attending the couple were Miss Dora Jane Hall, sister of the bride, and Jay Land, brother of the bridegroom.

Mr. and Mrs. Land will reside in Kansas City where the bride is a student nurse at Research hospital and Mr. Land is a law student.

Kansas City relatives accompanied them and witnessed the ceremony.

Both the bride and bridegroom attended Houstonia grade and high school. Mr. Haggard was discharged from military service last summer.

The couple plan to live in Kansas City.

Suit On Account Over Mares Purchase

A suit on account was filed by Scott Higgins against Charley Shoemaker in the Pettis county circuit court Wednesday, for a total of $250 plus six per cent interest, on two counts.

The petition alleges that Higgins sold and delivered two three-year-old spotted saddle mares to Shoemaker, one for $100 in May, 1945, and the other for $150 the following July, the stipulation being that they were to be paid for by defendant on demand.

The plaintiff in each count says that the defendant refused to pay in October and thereafter.

In addition to the sale prices and interests the plaintiff, whose attorney is L. J. Harned, sued for costs in the case.

Both Civil Factions in China Look to Marshall for Peace

By Richard Cushing
(For Hal Boyle)

SHANGHAI, April 18—(AP)—The delicately constructed peace engineered by General Marshall in his first three months in China crumbled at its foundations during his absence of less than five weeks.

It is generally believed here that it will take all his diplomacy and prestige to again prop up China's wobbling internal structure.

When the special U. S. envoy left for Washington March 11, that structure looked fairly solid.

Marshall had brought Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's Kuomintang and the Chinese Communists together for a truce. It had been agreed to bring Communist divisions into a national army of 60 divisions, one-fifth its war-time size.

Only a few hours before he left, a Kuomintang-Communist truce committee agreed to send its trouble-shooting teams into Manchuria. It seemed likely a coalition government would be formed while he was away.

After he left, however, the situation in Manchuria deteriorated to open conflict, suspicions sprouted on both sides and the whole structure of unity was shaken.

Problem Ahead

Marshall, who carries more prestige in China than probably any other foreigner ever enjoyed, now faces a problem as tough as the one he tackled when he came to China last Christmas at President Truman's request.

Both the Kuomintang and the Communists have praised his work and not once has a Chinese accused him of bias, but observers are wondering now how long he can walk the middle path.

Marshall's first task will be to stop the fighting in Manchuria, which undoubtedly prompted his unexpectedly quick return to China.

His second task will be to persuade the Kuomintang and the Communists to live up to the political agreements they already have made.

Government reorganization to include other parties besides the now-ruling Kuomintang as planned at January's unity conference was checked because the Communists accused the Kuomintang of violating the conference agreements.

The Communists are suspicious of the national assembly, scheduled to open May 5 at Nanking to adopt China's new constitution, fearing the Kuomintang majority may ram through legislation preserving its one-party rule under the guise of democracy.

Look Forward to Marshall

If the Communists refuse to attend the assembly, as they have threatened, it would be a grave setback for Marshall's plans.

If Marshall finds the government at fault, presumably his weapon would be the withholding of vast United States monetary support. If the Communists are found at fault it might force a change of the middle-course U. S. policy to one of outright support for the generalissimo.

Both sides appear eager for Marshall's return, hoping he can seal the new breach. They remember that in only three months he brought the Kuomintang and Communists closer together than they had been in nearly two decades.

Probably the only Chinese unhappy about his return are certain diehard elements in the Kuomintang who opposed any settlement with the Communists.

The fact that Marshall brought his wife back with him to China suggested that he planned a long stay in his determination to get China patched together and planted solidly on a foundation of peace.

Discord Still Plagues Ranks Of Democrats

Stories of Ninety Minute Session Many and Varied

By Clair Johnson

WASHINGTON, April 18 —(AP)—An extraordinary "harmony" session of House Democrats failed today to dispel the discord that has plagued party ranks.

The latest burst of dissatisfaction with the way party affairs are going came after last night's caucus from lawmakers representing northern industrial districts.

One of these legislators, Rep. Hook of Michigan, said a "wide open split" now exists.

Heretofore, southern members of the House have been most vocal in their complaints of disunity.

Talking with newsmen after last night's meeting broke up shortly before midnight, the northerners contended their Dixie colleagues were allowed to control the 90-minute session.

They—said anti-administration Democrats dominate the special 11-member committee appointed to work as a liaison group with Democratic national headquarters in an effort to promote "more harmonious relations."

State Peace Prevails

Several southerners and administration leaders disagreed, however. They declared that peace prevailed at the gathering and that party differences had been settled amicably.

"Everything was fine and we are all set to work together in harmony again," House Democratic whip Sparkman of Alabama asserted.

Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas and six other southerners were named to the 11-member group. They include Reps. Lanham of Texas, Cox of Georgia, Howard Smith of Virginia, Boren of Oklahoma, Domengeaux of Louisiana and Slaughter of Missouri. The four others are Floor Leader McCormack of Massachusetts and Reps. Coffee of Washington, Murphy of Pennsylvania and Mrs. Chase Going Woodhouse of Connecticut.

"Lousy" Action

"What happened clearly shows the wide open split in the party," Hook told reporters. "Everything was in absolute disharmony."

Rep. Biemiller (D-Wis.) termed the caucus move "a left-handed crack" at the national committee. He said the action was "lousy and stinking."

The caucus had been called on demand of more than 50 House members aroused over what they termed recent "boners" at national headquarters.

Nearly 200 party members attended the caucus, held in the House chamber.

Sickler was arrested at a local hospital which he had entered for treatment of a leg wound.

Prosecuting Attorney William J. Gilwee said the death penalty would be sought for the other three, all charged with first degree murder.

Want School Boards to Spend Money

Educator Tells Them to Raise Teachers Salaries

JEFFERSON CITY, April 18—(AP)—Two topflight Missouri school men called on school board members today to spend more money to lift the state out of the educational doldrums.

State Supt. Roy Scantlin urged unanimous support of a bill pending in the house of representatives to provide $2,000,000 state aid for public school buildings—not enough money he said but "a step in the right direction."

L. E. Ziegler, superintendent of schools at Columbia and president of the state teachers association, pleaded for higher teachers salaries.

"In Heaven's name," he said, "I hope we'll go to bat to get teachers' salaries out of the lower brackets of the professions. . . . We have in our hands the future of our children. Let's do something about it."

Talk to School Boards

Both spoke at a meeting of the Missouri Association of School Boards in Representative hall at the capitol, and both concentrated on financial problems facing the approximately 125 board members present.

"Missouri does not spend enough money for public education," Scantlin said bluntly.

He told the board members money spent for education yields the greatest returns of any public expenditure and concluded:

"Missouri is on the march educationally. The new constitution and the statutes enacted under it provides the framework for real educational progress."

Scantlin holds over as the first state education commissioner when a new lay board of education starts operating a reorganized state department July 1.

Ziegler, discussing a teacher shortage which has left 2,500 vacancies in Missouri high schools according to a recent survey, said "the time has past when we can just keep on talking about it. We're in the middle of a crisis and we ought to realize it."

Tortured U. S. Prisoners

YOKOHAMA, April 18.—(AP)—Kumimitsu Yamauchi, who was civilian interpreter at Omuta prisoner of war camp, tortured American prisoners by placing burning cigarettes on their lips and dragging electrically charged wires across their backs, former prisoners testified today.

Yamauchi is charged with beating and otherwise mistreating prisoners and with being directly instrumental in the death of Cpl. Walter R. Johnson, McPherson, Kas. He pleaded innocent.

Cpl. Paul A. Thacker, of Riggold, Va., in a deposition charged that Yamauchi beat Johnson with clubs and used the "electric wire treatment" on him.

"I don't know what voltage it was," Thacker wrote, "but Johnson would scream pitifully when touched with the wire."

Another affidavit as to Yamauchi's treatment of prisoners and his attitude in encouraging mistreatment was introduced from Cpl. Theodore A. Salter, Truman, Ark.

Increase Price Of Refrigerators

WASHINGTON, April 18—(AP)—OPA today raised retail price ceilings on new refrigerators by four per cent over March, 1942 levels to offset higher production costs.

The agency granted manufacturers an eight per cent increase, which it said will be reflected in full at retail.

The retail price hike is less on a percentage basis than the manufacturers' increase because the latter adjustment is being passed on in the exact dollar-and-cent amount rather than on a markup basis.

News Briefs

WASHINGTON, April 18—(AP)—Secretary of the Navy Forrestal's agreement that some form of unification is desirable steered the caustic merger controversy between the sea service and the White House into smoother waters today.

Forrestal carried the peace gesture still further with firm advice to navy officers to pipe down on anti-merger "speeches or other propaganda" and stick to congressional committee testimony.

Forrestal indicated, however, that no action is contemplated against Rear Adm. A. S. Merrill whose comments to newsmen last week were said by the White House to have prompted President Truman's original criticism of what he termed navy lobbying.

Phones From Switzerland

Sgt. Virgil W. Herrick, on a furlough in Switzerland last week, telephoned Mrs. Herrick at their home here, 1525 South Barrett avenue. Mrs. Herrick had been notified there would be a call for her Thursday morning, but it did not come through until 1:30 o'clock Friday afternoon. The connection, she states, was exceptionally good and she could hear her husband clearly. He asked about their two sons and other relatives.

Sgt. Herrick told her of the beauties of the country, stating that he particularly enjoyed the milk and water, as the water in Italy, where he is stationed, did not agree with him and he could not drink it.

He hopes to be out of the service and back home in the not too far-distant future.

Sgt. Herrick is a member of the City Council, elected alderman from the Fourth ward.

FALLON, Nev., April 18.—(AP)—Experienced fishermen were out in full force when the trout season opened, but the day's biggest catch went to small fry.

Ten-year-old Ronnie Willhite and his pup "Ruff" were fishing in an irrigation ditch when Ruff spied a trout in the shallow water and chased the fish to shore. There Ronnie joined the fray and came up with a six-pound, 15-ounce trout in his bare hands.

Yanks Held in Hotel Taken

CHUNGKING, April 18—(AP)—The fate of an American officer and his pilot was hidden by the smoke of battle in Changchun today as Chinese Communist forces captured the Yamato hotel, where the two had been staying.

Destroyed telephone communications made impossible a check into the fate of the two — Maj. Robert B. Rigg of Chicago, assistant military attache, and M/Sgt. Clayton Pond of Portland, Ore.

News of the capture of the hotel from government forces came in a fragmentary dispatch sent from the embattled city by Associated Press correspondent Tom Masterson, cut off there with four other correspondents.

As General Marshall, special U. S. envoy, flew here in a supreme effort to bring peace to Manchuria gunfire roared through the streets of Changchun. Communist forces threatened to overwhelm completely the small national garrison fighting from sandbag defenses in the center of the city. Government planes dropped urgently-needed ammunition to the besieged force.

State Patrol Wants Plane In its Work

JEFFERSON CITY, April 18.—(AP)—Col. Hugh H. Waggoner, superintendent of the Missouri Highway Patrol, said today the Patrol had asked the General Assembly for money to purchase a twin-engined airplane with which to track down law violators.

Waggoner expressed doubt that such a ship would help halt fugitives like the one who stole a plane at the Columbia, Mo., airport yesterday. The Patrol superintendent said the pilot of the missing plane had been identified as Vernon B. Simpson, 22, former Malden, Mo., army air force instructor.

Nothing has been heard of Simpson's whereabouts, Patrol officials say, although the plane's fuel supply would have forced it down within 600 miles of Columbia.

"We don't want to start an air corps with planes mounting machine guns in their wings," Waggoner said.

A Valuable Asset

He declared, however, the plane would be valuable in locating fugitives who take to the woods or in overtaking automobiles in not readily accessable areas of the state.

Cost of the plane would come to about $10,000, the patrol head said, and would carry about four passengers. He said there were several men in the patrol, returned from army air force duty, who would be able to pilot the craft.

"We have used planes before, some from the State Guard and others from the Knob Noster Army Air Base, in locating criminals," he explained.

Waggoner said he did not know whether Rep. R. J. King (R) of Franklin county, chairman of the House appropriations committee, had approved the request, but that "several legislators suggested the idea to me and seemed to favor it."

Both the Conservation Commission and the Department of Resources and Development have also asked for money to buy planes, Waggoner said he believed.

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON, April 17—(AP)—The CIO is fathering a double drive with deeply important political and social goals.

The two drives will prove to be closely related.

1. The CIO Political Action Committee will take a very active part in the congressional elections this year. The primaries start soon.

2. The CIO itself, beginning in May, will open a $1,000,000 campaign to organize unorganized workers of the south into unions.

Take the CIO-PAC first:

Organized in 1943, it was an active and effective force in the 1944 presidential - congressional elections.

Yesterday the CIO-PAC laid down a 17-point program for the 1946 congressional elections.

The program backed the Roosevelt foreign and economic policies and then said:

"The coalition of poll-tax Democrats and reactionary Republicans thwarts the peoples' program."

Hillman Statement

Eidney Hillman, CIO-PAC chairman, said:

1. The National CIO-PAC will make no endorsements and has no blacklist.

2. The National PAC will supply the state and local PACs with plenty of information on issues and the voting record of congressional candidates.

3. Then, with this information, it will be up to the state and local PACs to support the candidates they wish.

The PAC, Hillman said, is asking a contribution of $1 on a voluntary basis from each member of the CIO, which claims 6,000,000.

He said the PAC hopes to be a factor "in at least 100 key congressional districts."

Then, in answer to a reporter's question, Hillman said:

There's no doubt the local PAC organizations will try to defeat those southern Democrats who have voted with Republicans in opposing the administration program.

Follow National

In this way, of course, the local PACs will be following the program laid down by the National PAC.

Now take the CIO organizing drive in the south:

The CIO in May will send 200 organizers into the south, operating with a $1,000,000 fund supplied by CIO unions.

CIO President Philip Murray recently called this organizing drive a "a crusade to emancipate x x x the economic serfs of the south where people are still persecuted and suffer much."

Then, making it plain that the CIO is thinking of the political importance of organizing CIO workers in the south, Murray said:

The organizers will go there to bring about the "economic and political emancipation of millions of people here in the United States who are deprived of those opportunities today."

Just as the CIO-PAC program denounced "poll-tax Democrats," Murray is thinking of the poll tax in connection with the organizing drive. He said:

An Important Factor

"We have been reading about many things in the south for many years—poll tax, low wages and the inability of the average poor wage earner to vote on election day.

x x x

"The CIO has got to go into the south to carry the message of America to the people down there."

The CIO may be starting too late in 1946 to be able, effectively, to throw the weight of the workers it is seeking to organize into the 1946 elections.

But—if the CIO drive adds any substantial number of members to the CIO rolls, they should be an important factor in the presidential-congressional elections and perhaps in state elections before that time.

Workers Take Arguments to Capital

A thirty-man delegation from the CIO Packing House Workers Union arrive in Washington, D. C., to protest against job layoffs and to urge the extension of price controls. Pettis Countians Help Many Cripples to Lead Normal Lives

Several years ago a Sedalia woman sent to the Pettis County Society for Crippled children a check for $50.00 inclosed with a note which read: "This is a thank offering because my children are normal." The Missouri and Pettis county societies do not ask for donations, but they do sell little seals at Easter time to carry on the magnificent job they are doing and have been doing for the past nineteen years.

The little Easter seals mean the future happiness to boys and girls who are handicapped, not only in other communities, but to many right here and the greater part of the money derived from thesales in this county stays right here to give them a real chance in life To become self supporting citizens leading normal lives.

Mrs. J. C. Connor, secretary and treasurer of the Pettis County Society, smiles as she tells little human interest stories of boys and girls in this community who have been given the chance to make their dreams come true.

Graduated From University

Such stories as the boy with spatic paralysis, who had to be persuaded to go to school but who did continue until he was graduated from Smith-Cotton, then to the University of Missouri where he was graduated in law. He then cook a civil service examination and is now holding a splendid position in the psychiatic department in Washington, D. C.

Then there was the little girl who was a bit self conscious of her affliction but went on to school after being urged to do so until she had fniished high school and Central Business college. She then accepted a position and was at one time the only support in her family.

Another boy, who would have probably been a county charge is now a successful business man and owns quite a little property.

Some Who Were Helped

Right now in the country there is a family where the father spent time at the Mount Vernon sanitorium, the mother had X-rays and was found negative, one little girl who has tuberculosis of the spine was at Mercy, hospital, Kansas City, Blosser Convalescing hospital in Marshall and the University hospital at Columbia. Another child, a boy two years old, had bowed legs to the point where he was a cripple. Both legs had to be broken and straightened. "See," he said to Mrs. Connor after the legs had been straightened, "My knees come together." Before they had been eight inches apart. He was also pigeontoed and is wearing corrective shoes for that.

All of these things are made possible by the sale of Easter seals to finance the Pettis county society which finds children who need assistance. Transportation, medicine and many other things supplement the Missouri Service for Crippled Children which is a federal and state association giving the hospital service.

Constantly Working

Day and night Mrs. Connor receives calls from doctors in the county asking that hospitals be contacted and transportation and other needed things supplied to take a child to a hospital. This is a continual work being carried on quietly in our own community where the average citizen does not realize there are so many crippled children.

The children are not only given the opportunity for medical attention, they are educated and given intelligence tests after which they are trained for the work for which they are best suited.

Rev. J. Fred King is chairman of the Pettis County Society.

Pettis county was the first to have a clinic under the auspices of the Missouri Society which originally also sponsored the hospitalization.

Two are Fined For Fighting

W. J. Hinson, 411 East Third street, and W. F. Schenewark, 1121 East Tenth street, arrested last Tuesday night for fighting on East Third street, were both fined $5 in police court this morning by Judge W. E. Scotten. A police court hearing was held after the two pleaded not guilty.

Hinson, with some slight scratches and cuts on his face, and Schenewark, with a patch over his right eye, as a result of the fracas, gave their version of the fight to Judge Scotten. The court found both equally guilty and assessed the fine punishment.

Prof. Coy Bour Resigns at MU

The resignation of J. Coy Bour, professor of law at the University of Missouri, Columbia, and former Sedalian, has been accepted, effective March 28. He has been with the faculty since 1926. The past semester Prof. Bour has been on a leave of absence because of the poor health of his mother, Mrs. Alice Bour, who resides with him in Columbia.

The Bour family lived in Sedalia many years. Prof. Bour's father, John Bour, was a Missouri-Kansas-Texas engineer, and at his death in 1926 Mrs. Bour went to Columbia to be with her son. Mrs. Bour is a sister of Mrs. Etta Spillers of Sedalia.

'Missing Girl' Was With Her Father

Marjorie Bleigh, 16, who has been the subject of police and State Highway Patrol broadcasts as "a missing girl from Sedalia," several times, returned home this morning. The girl was taken to police headquarters by her father at 7 o'clock this morning and then went to her own home, 213 West Second, at 8 o'clock.

According to the police the father and mother are separated and both remarried. She had gone to the home of her father.

She had been away this last time from 9 o'clock Tuesday night.

Wars, Music, Drama---They're All in This Record Collection

George C. A. Hantelman spent 26 years looking for one record, has 50,000 others covering drama, war, music, sports, in his unique collection.

By MARIANNE PACHNER
NEA Staff Correspondent

CLEVELAND, O.—(NEA)—"I'll give you a hundred dollars for that record of Joe Jefferson."

"Sorry."

"Two hundred dollars?"

"I don't want to sell it."

"Here." And the businessman who coveted the valuable recording made by the immortal actor as "Rip Van Winkle" in 1904 scribbled his name on the bottom of a blank check and tossed it across the table. "Write in your own figure," he said.

But George C. A. Hantelman, who has made a lifetime hobby of collecting phonograph records and whose 3380 albums contain over 50,000 selections, refused to part with his prize at any price.

Hantelman admitted the offer was unusual. Most collectors' items run between $3.95 and $20. He values his own collection at $50,000.

Since 1914, when his mother asked him to find an unusual Bach number for her, he has tracked down records in nearly every civilized country in the world. He never gives up a quest. One of his favorite discs broke in 1919 and he sought to replace it. This was a "Lakme" aria sung by Eugenia Bronskaya and Bettina Freeman and was a rarity even then. Not until 1945, after a 26-year-search, did he finally put his hands on a duplicate.

One of a Very Few

Outstanding item in the Hantelman collection is the legendary Enrico Caruso-Geraldine Farrar duet from "Madame Butterfly," in which the soprano did some adlibbing to the dismay of the recording company but to the delight of collectors. Suspecting that Caruso had had his foot on a barrail shortly before reporting at the recording studio, Miss Farrar interpolated this line into the libretto: "For he had a highball. . ." The record had been distributed all over the country before the trick was discovered and the company attempted to recall its pressings. A few never did get back and these are the collectors' items of today.

There is a record of an actual air-raid over London from the alert to the all clear, made by an engineer who was later killed, and another of gas shell bombs made during World War I on a Belgium battlefield.

Richard Tauber, famed operatic star who possesses two voices—tenor and baritone—sings a duet with himself. Leoncavallo conducts his own opera, "Il Pagliacci," and Grieg plays one of his own piano compositions.

Charlie Chaplin, the movie comedian, leads an orchestra in music he himself has written.

Elsie Houston, the night club singer, defied a curse to put the black magic music of Brazil on records which Mr. Hantelman owns. She died shortly afterwards.

The 30,000 voices of the Eucharistic Congress Children's Choir, meeting in Chicago in 1926, are recordings on a single disc.

The sounds before the Wailing Wall of Jerusalem are caught for the western world by Rowena of the Habima Players in Palestine. There is a record of the actual bird-calls in an old English garden at break of day, and one that reproduces the London street cries of Shakespeare's time.

Bygone circus days are brought back by the Barnum and Bailey calliope.

Out of History

The bugle that opened the Battle of Waterloo and started the charge of the Light Brigade at Balaclava was blown and recorded by the original bugler of Balaclava in 1890; there are recordings of the flute that belonged to Frederick the Great, the musical clock for which Haydn composed, and of the musical watches carried by Napoleon's army.

Hantelman himself recorded from a radio broadcast the blowing of the American bugle as our flag went up on Corregidor.

History comes alive in Gladstone's voice, recorded in 1889; in Hitler's Sportspalast harangue before the march into Czechoslovakia in 1938; in the trumpetings of Lord Haw Haw and Tokyo Rose.

George Williams, founder of the YMCA, tells the world about his organization on its 50th anniversary. Emmeline Pankhurst speaks for the suffragettes of England after her release from prison.

There is a record of the Dempsey-Tunney fight at Soldiers' Field, Chicago, in 1927. Many actors, including Sarah Bernhardt and Rudolph Valentino, are on call.

The list is endless. Indexed, it occupies 58,000 file cards and 27,000 pages of cataloguing. The albums are stored three deep from floor to ceiling in every room of the collector's Akron, O., home. There are 311 recording companies represented.

"If I were to play my records eight hours a day, every day, it would take me just about a year to get through them all," Hantelman said.

The owner of this massive library possesses 12 playing-machines, from the earliest Edison brass horn to the most intricate of modern phonographs. He refuses to have anything to do with record-changers, though. "Half my pleasure comes from handling each record individually," he explains.

We asked if there were any way to mend a broken record. "No, there isn't" he replied. "But if a valuable record is cracked, the crack can be taped across the back and the record re-recorded. The click is surprisingly faint."

Four Actions For Divorce Filed

Four divorce suits were filed Wednesday afternoon in the Pettis county circuit court.

Mrs. Pearl Snell asked for a divorce from Ruben Snell to whom she was married on November 23, 1931, in Cooper county. They separated June 6, 1942. L. J. Harned is the attorney for the plaintiff.

Alleging desertion, Harry H. Morrison filed suit against Lola B. Morrison, stating they separated in January of 1931. The couple was married on May 1, 1918, in Boonville. F. T. Armstrong represents the plaintiff.

Mrs. Opal Ford sued Harl Ford and asked for the care and custody of their two children and for suitable maintenance for them. Married on November 3, 1939, the couple separated on March 3, 1946.

Mary C. Sloan, a minor, through her natural guardian and best friend, Charlotte Sumners, sought a decree of divorce from Frank D. Sloan to whom she was married April 30, 1945 in Ashland, Ky.

The defendant, according to the petition, left for overseas service last September and returned to this country on February 24. General indignities are alleged. The plaintiff formerly of Oak Grove, Mo. ask for the care and custody of their seven-week old child, for alimony and maintenance, plus the attorney's fee.

F. F. Wesner is the attorney for the plaintiffs in the last two cases.

License To Operate Pool Tables

A license to operate nine pool tables was granted Wednesday by the Pettis county court to R. L. Ream at 207-09 West Main street. The license will expire October 23, 1946.

Max Lanier Shuts Out The Pirates

Browns Stage an Uprising in Ninth To Nose Out the Detroit Tigers

By Joe Reichler
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, April 18— The Chicago Cubs, who last year equalled a major league standard by trimming the Cincinnati Reds 21 times in 22 meetings, are off to a good start in an attempt to duplicate the performance this year against Bill McKechnie's weary Redlegs.

Wednesday's 11-7 triumph coming on the wings of Phil Cavarretta's home run which highlighted a five-run splurge in the ninth inning, was Chicago's second straight win over the Rhinelanders, both victories coming in the final frame.

Clyde Shoun the Loser

Cincy's Johnny Vander Meer, of no-hit fame, making his post-war debut, and Hank Wyse, the Cubs' 22-game winner last year, opposed each other at the start, but both were not around at the finish. Emil Kush received credit for the victory and Clyde Shoun, third of four hurlers, was the loser.

A flimsy crowd of 4,529, part of the day's total of 74,207, witnessed the Cubs' triumph which placed them in an early season tie for first with the New York Giants. In contrast, Tuesday's opening day attendance was 236,730.

The largest turnout of the day, 14,330, watched the home-town Detroit Tigers go down to defeat, also in the ninth inning, when the St. Louis Browns counted twice on a pair of hits, two walks and Vern Stephens' fly to defeat the Bengals 7-6. The Browns had whittled the Tigers' lead to one run in the previous inning when Walter Judnich, back after three years in the army, blasted a two-run homer.

Giants Keep Pace

The Giants kept pace with the Cubs by defeating Philadelphia 5-2 for their second straight over the Phillies. The 31-year-old Bob Joyce gained his first National league victory in limiting the Phils to seven blows while the Polo Grounders took advantage of nine walks given up by Southpaw Frank Hoerst to score all their runs.

Cleveland and Boston's Red Sox were the only other teams to keep their slates clean. The Indians continued to get fine pitching as Allie Reynolds hurled a five hitter against the Chicago White Sox to help Cleveland win 7-1.

The Red Sox staged an old fashioned slugging bee against five Washington throwers which netted them 15 hits and a 13-6 decision over the Senators. Ted Williams and Dom Dimaggio led the Bosox attack. Williams enjoying a perfect day with two doubles, a single and three walks, while Joe Dimaggio's younger brother clouted a three-run homer and tallied four times.

Philadelphia's Athletics evened their series with the New York Yankees when they hopped on Rookie Randy Gumpert, a former hackman, for five runs in the seventh inning to beat the Bronx Bombers 7-1 before 11,901. Old Bobo Newsom made merry with the Yanks as he silenced their bats with three safeties.

Southpaw Max Lanier celebrated his return to the big leagues by blanking Pittsburgh with seven scattered singles as the St. Louis Cardinals defeated the Pirates 6-0. Playing a different brand of ball than that which marked their opening day performance, the Red Birds combed two Buc hurlers for 13 hits including a triple by Stan Musial and a home run by Enos Slaughter.

Rookie Hank Behrman, a 24-year-old righthander who was purchased from Montreal only last Monday, turned back the Boston Braves with nine scattered hits as Brooklyn evened the opening series with a 4-2 victory.

Big Recreational Season in Ozark's

JEFFERSON CITY, April 18—(AP)—The sound of axe and hammer is resounding through Missouri's Ozark recreational areas these days as camp and resort owners hurriedly prepare for a tourist boom they expect to surpass all previous seasons.

The activity is in line with predictions by Hugh Denney, director of the state department of resources and development, that Missouri's share of the national recreational dollar this year would run to approximately $200,000,000, 50 per cent more that what it was last year.

Additional cabins, boat docks and wharves are being built along the Lake of the Ozarks where during the past four months a considerable amount of property has been subdivided and sold to out-state persons seeking establishment of tourist camps.

Natives of Lake Ozark near Bagnell dam say they expect the "bigges season in years," and point to the influx of fishermen and others already flocking to the area on April weekends, although they consider May 30 the official opening of their recreation season.

Some resort owners have purchased expensive pleasure craft with which to entice recreation seekers on tours of the big lake's coves, while others who cater to the fisherman talk of sinking cedar logs and baited barrels in the hope of attracting the numerous crappie to new feeding grounds.

Would Like Baseball To Become World Wide

By Bus Ham

WASHINGTON, April 18—(AP)—A. B. "Happy" Chandler would "be glad" to see baseball become world-wide, if the government is interested in using the game to improve relations with other countries.

Baseball's commissioner made that comment to a reporter today when he visited the nation's capital to see Washington and Boston play their third game of the infant 1946 major league season.

"Baseball has a great contribution to make (in the international field) and I would want it to mean something," he said.

The state department is the proper agency to look into such possibilities, Chandler added. He is "ready at any time to sit down with such officials" to consider the possibilities of popularizing the sport around the globe.

Baseball already has a start in many countries. During the war and shortly after, American servicemen introduced it in Italy, France, Germany and throughout the Pacific, and revived it in Japan.

The sport has a hold in South America, Suba, Mexico and the Netherlands.

Differences between the Mexican League and organized baseball led a state department official to remark that the department wished the big leagues would show some indication of a desire to smooth out sports conditions harmful to relations with that country.

Chandler had nothing to say on that score.

NBC Semi-Pro Will Not Welcome Jumpers

WICHITA, Kas., April 18—(AP)—Ray Dumont, head man of the National Baseball Congress, let it be known today that baseball players jumping contracts to join the Mexican League would find no welcome in his semi-pro circles.

Dumont said his semi-pro organization would see that no ball players participated in its National Association of Leagues or its annual tournaments if he had been ruled out by organized professional baseball for contract jumping.

He suggested that the Mexican League get itself a boss like Baseball Commissioner Albert B. Chandler. If it adopted a sound policy, he said, semi-pro baseball was ready to give it a lot of cooperation.

French Show Forbearance In Occupation

Severe But Ready To do Right By the Germans

By Godfrey Anderson

BADEN-BADEN, Germany—(AP)—After four years of having their own country occupied by an enemy army, the French are showing forbearance in their occupation of Southwestern Germany. The military term "correct" would seem to be the word for it—polite, if somewhat cold.

Less fraternization appears on the surface than in the British zone, far less than in the American zone. French and military government officers are in the main severe but just, ready to do what is right by the Germans, but not much more. The Germans seem to respect them for it.

Each evening at sunset, when the tricolor is hauled down at French headquarters, every German passerby must stop and bare his head. It serves as a little reminder of who is top dog now. But there is no real attempt to humiliate the Germans. The French too lately felt humiliated themselves.

The new, if small, French army in Germany is smart and conscious of its responsibilities. Guards are neatly turned out, military courtesies and saluting strictly observed, equipment better maintained than in the past.

Germans Have Worries

Of course the Germans have worries of their own. Many of the six millions living in the zone probably are hungry. Their daily food ration has fallen to about 1,000 calories a day and they have only 200 grams of bread to eat with their almost non-existent sausage. The French zone is not self-sufficient and is short of both wheat and coal.

The French say that the economic administration of their zone has suffered because it is neither geographically nor industrially complete. They have a part of Wurtemberg, but no longer have its capital, Stuttgart, from which they withdrew so that it could be included in the American zone. They have the larger part of Baden, but they lack its capital, Karlsruhe. They have the Rhineland, but the British hold Cologne, its largest city. The Palatinate and the Saar are politically and ethnically mixed areas, they say, and the removal of their administrative center from Stuttgart involved creation of a new capital at Baden-Baden and the recentering of the zone's whole economy around it.

Almost a French City

Today Baden-Baden is almost a French city. Eight thousand officials thumb through great dossiers in the luxurious rooms of its great Spa hotels, smartly dressed French women trip along its narrow streets, French children lug leather satchels bulging with books to its schools. It is estimated that there are something like 20,000 French Nationals here.

But Baden-Baden is not typical of the zone as a whole. Although here and there the wheels of industry are turning again, many plants are idle through the grave shortage of coal.

On the Bspufoer side, the French can point to these achievements:

The Rhine reopened for navigation and its most important bridges restored.

Ninety-four per cent of the railroads re-established in the zone.

The banks report German savings up.

Four hundred and eighty thousand shoes turned out monthly at Pirmasens.

Two hundred million kilowatts of electricity monthly.

Criticism From France

A watch making industry quantitatively greater than the Swiss industry, if inferior in quality.

Four hundred barracks buildings pre-fabricated from black forest timber exported every month to house the homeless in devastated areas of France. (A scheme for a more elaborate pre-fabricated wooden villa is under preparation, but transport facilities may delay it.)

French officials complain that they are criticized at home for not getting more out of Germany, while their allies are sometimes inclined to complain they take too much.

"There are people in France who forget we cannot just strip the country bare of everything," a military government officer said. "They forget France has commitments to her allies. The army cannot live on the country."

Setback Given Reconversion

Scores Of Plants Shut Down By Lack Of Fuel

WASHINGTON, April 18—(AP)—Reconversion is suffering "a setback which will steadily grow worse day by day if the coal strike continues," Civilian Production Administrator John D. Small reported Wednesday.

"Scores of plants are down because of lack of fuel," Small stated after a telephone survey of key factories and industries, made at the request of Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach.

The 17-day work stoppage by John L. Lewis' soft coal United Mine Workers is increasing the injury done by the recent still strike, "insofar as its overall effect on production is concerned," the production chief said.

In addition to consumers goods and the production of materials for the housing program, essential railroad and utility services will be hit severely if the work stoppage is prolonged."

The checkup, he said, revealed that some railroads may be forced to curtail service in the next two weeks; that steel production is dropping steadily; and that about 15 small brick plants, whose output is essential to the housing drive, have been closed.

Steel Is Curtailed

"The country's number one steel producer" — obviously United States Steel Corporation—"is currently operating at only 48 percent of capacity at the Pittsburgh-Ohio area," the CPA administrator said. "Other areas are beginning to be affected substantially.

"Three others of the largest steel producers expect sharp drops in production in the next ten days. Another large company's operations is said to be curtailed by the poor quality of the coal on hand."

Judged by operations in the first week of April, the country will lose at least 750,000 tons of steel ingots this month, even if current operations can be maintained, he estimated.

Small said it was "extremely unlikely" that the present rate could be kept up, because mills already were planning to set aside part of their coal supplies to bank up their furnaces and coke ovens. Serious damage would result if they cooled.

"Steel production would, if the strike still continued, then drop off drastically and it would take weeks to restore normal production," Small said. "If coal mining were not resumed until early May, it is estimated that the industry would lose 3,500,000 ingot tons of steel during that month based upon a 50 percent operation."

Referring to the strike's effect on automobiles, refrigerators and other scarce goods, Small declared:

"Although there is a time lag, the impact of this coal strike will be felt by the public throughout the country as repercussions spread from the steel mills back to plants, then to the wholesalers and retailers and finally to the consumers.

"The fact is, at this critical period of reconversion, that the coal strike is one in which every citizen of our country has a definite stake."

As Small spoke, the stalemate in contract negotiations between Lewis and the operators continued. The government continued mediation efforts.

First Lady Is Undecided As To Easter Garb

By Virginia Van Der Meer

WASHINGTON, April 18—(AP)—It's all up in the air. Nobody—literally nobody—knows what Mrs. Truman will wear Easter Sunday.

The First Lady, it seems, will take a quick gander at the weather, rummage in the closet and emerge to lead the nation's fashion parade—in any old things that catch her eye.

They won't be new—hat, dress nor coat. That's definite. The same applies to daughter Margaret.

Thus is answered the number one question—since about mid-February—at White House feminine news conference. Breathless fashion writers began early to inquire in hushed tones of Mrs. James Helm, social secretary:

"And what will Mrs. Truman and Margaret wear on Easter?"

After many persistent tries, the answer finally came: The First Lady and her daughter don't know themselves.

The Truman ladies won't be the only paraders in town wihout new Easter bonnets. Cabinet wives seemed equally unprepared.

Mrs. Fred Vinson, wife of the treasury secretary, confessed she'll just appear in "my old navy blue suit."

Mrs. Clinton Anderson, wife of the agriculture secretary, said she wasn't even thinking about it and hadn't had a new Easter outfit in years.

Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers (R-Mass) said she's been wearing a straw hat for weeks and will wear it right through Easter. Congresswomen, said she, are too busy for Easter shopping.

Masquerade With Buttons

Hand-twisted plastic buttons, graduating in size, are tacked on the sleeves of this black dress from shoulder to wrist. One large matching button on a satin ribbon is the choker and two smaller ones, glued to earring backs, make the earrings.

(NEA photos from LaMode)

Sparkling buttons are spring tonics for winter-weary clothes. Here butterflies, imprisoned in plastic, light on the shoulder of a turtle neck sweater and make the matching earrings.

BY EPSIE KINARD
NEA Staff Writer

NEW YORK — (NEA)—Backed by returned metals and new plastics, buttons are cast for more major roles this spring than that of merely closing up your duds. Now its masquerades, posing as jewelry, braid and embroidery, that get buttons their stellar billing.

By using buttons for fresh focal interest, you can rejuvenate old clothes and give the hint that inexpensive new ones came from the top price brackets. The rules are simple. Take a handful of buttons—cymbal-like brass discs, gilt metal flowers set with stone stamens or plastic grape leaves bearing clusters of fruit and use as new scene-shifters to ring in a change on a black background dress. Starting at the shoulder, make buttons march single file on each sleeve, and wind up the parade at the wrist.

For matching jewelry, slip a satin ribbon through the shank of a button, and make a neck-tied choker.

Have you a turtle neck sweater that'll take a sprucing up? Group a bevy of butterfly buttons, made of sparkling plastics, at the shoulder. Tack these on so as to give the impression that butterflies are winging their way up. If you want two to light on your earlobes, use a couple of extra buttons, your nail file to pry off their shanks, and glue the tops to a pair of earring backs with household cement.

Line up decorative buttons on the new suit or dress that you make Add a few more for sparkle to the bow on your hat. Playing the button game again with two more plastic set gems, glue shankless tops to a pair of earring backs for a bejeweled ensemble.

How to make your Easter table attractive

Whether your Easter celebration includes only the immediate family or whether you make the day one for entertaining, the occasion calls for table decorations. Here's an idea that may be used for almost any Easter party and for every age group, too.

EASTER BONNET CENTERPIECE

The main attraction of our centerpiece is a hatbox. It may be either round or square, small or large, and it doesn't have to be a fancy one. Ours is covered with gay striped gift paper, but the same effect is obtained by covering the hatbox in plain pastel colored paper and pasting on contrasting stripes. (Vegetable glue makes a neater job of this, for it doesn't come through the paper.) Plain or figured shelf paper, wallpaper or crepe paper may also be used. Use real ribbon of harmonizing or contrasting color or crepe paper to tie up the box and form the bow. Line the box with pastel-colored tissue paper; tilt the lid and let sprays of spring blossoms or flowers, pussy willows or green leaves hang out over the side.

Place one or two toy bunnies (or you could use a pottery bunny, chicken or duck, or a covered hen dish) by the hatbox. Arrange flowers or decorated Easter eggs and leaves around the hatbox to complete the centerpiece.

Sports Roundup

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, April 18—(AP)—The police athletic league of New York is planning to extend its inter-city competition into the baseball and track season and to realize what that means you'll have to see some of the figures. . . . But first deputy commissioner James B. Nalon, who heads the outfit, wants you to understand it isn't just an organization of bad boys although its big job is keeping the kids out of trouble. . . . The PAL had 320 basketball teams last winter and wound up in an inter-city series involving New York, Newark, Philadelphia, Washington, Baltimore, Union City, N. J., Yonkers and Nassau county, N. Y. . . . This spring Nolan hopes to have 1,000 baseball teams in action and 20,000 kids participating in track. . . . The figures are almost too big to believe, but the commissioner's big point is that 71 police departments in big cities carry on the same sort of work and if the rest could see what a swell job they're doing for the kids, they'd take it up, too.

Last Fling

Nolan likes to tell a story about a PAL official who was driving through a Brooklyn park when a couple of kids tossed some rocks at his shiny new car. . . . The official managed to catch the boys and demanded an explanation. . . . "This is the last time; we're giving it up Tuesday," the kids told him. . . . "Why Tuesday?" . . . "Well, that's the day we're joining the police athletic league."

Sports Before Your Eyes

The Los Angeles Rams have sent Kenny Washington to a hospital for operations on both his knees before he tackles his first big league football season. He'll be ready to start practice in July. . . . Drake's Bill Mack, whose 4:19 indoor mile at the Chicago relays tagged him as the best college prospect, will get his first outdoor test in the Kansas relays Saturday. . .

United States Obligated to P.I. and Japan

Other Nations Not Barred From Trading With Them

By Dewitt Mackenzie
AP Foreign Affairs Writer

General MacArthur, answering Russian criticism of his administration in Japan, has told the four-power Allied council in about so many hand picked words that consideration of his past actions isn't its job.

This blunt reply has been capped by Brig. Gen. Courtney Whitney, MacArthur's military government officer. Whitney declared that Russia's question of Allied occupation policy, "whether in good faith or not is a warning that success of the occupation is threatened," though the Russian delegate later said the position should not be interpreted that way. Both these statements from the American camp fit into the picture created recently by charges leveled at the United States (and Britain) by Russian publications and radio.

Moscow Quotes Magazine

For example, we hear the Moscow radio quoting the magazine New Times as saying that the greatest danger facing the U. N. "arises from the efforts of certain circles to make the United Nations an instrument for the domination of some countries over others, to turn it into a weapon of the Anglo-American bloc." The New Times also declares that "promises given during the war to the Philippines are not being kept," and that the formal independence to be given the Philippines is "being joined with complete domination of the country's economy by America."

Well, what's the answer to these harsh accusations against Uncle Sam? Is he trying to establish hegemony over the Philippines and Japan?

Byrnes' Policy

American Secretary of State Byrnes stated his position succinctly in a pronouncement of policy on February 28 last when he said:

"We will do nothing to break the world into exclusive blocs or spheres of influence. In this atomic age we will not seek to divide a world which is one and undivisable."

That's clear enough and true. Still it's equally true that this policy doesn't relieve the United States of obligations which it incurred when it freed the Philippines from Spain half a century ago and again when it played the major role in conquering Japan and thereby had placed upon it one of the greatest trusts any nation ever had to assume.

There is no question about the independence of the Philippines. Neither is there any doubt that the Filipinos want, and are entitled to, the benevolent protection of the United States. Any argument about that is ended when we point to what happened to them in the war just ended.

U. S. Obligations

We must recognize, too, that in the half century since the Philippines became attached to the United States the economies of the two have merged. It's natural the relationship should continue, though this doesn't and never has meant, that other nations are barred from participation in trade.

Then take the case of Japan. Whether he likes it or not, Uncle Sam must assume the broad responsibility for a Nippon which has been crushed as few major nations ever have been. She is dow nand out and will remain so for a great many years. She is militarily impotent — wholly incapable of striking a blow in self defense. And she is equally broken financially.

The United States has an obligation to see that Japan is reformed, that she is rehabilitated and that she is not the object of aggression from any quarter. I suppose this means a sort of protectorate and in that sense one may say that both Japan and the Philippines are in America's "zone of influence." However, you smile when you use those words, "'zone of influence," because they must be employed only in a good sense. Uncle Sam is not establishing an exclusive bloc.

Large Display Glass Shattered

The large plate glass display window of the State Fair Floral Co., 316 South Ohio avenue, was broken Wednesday night and damage estimated to be $20.00 was done to the Easter floral display there. Just how it happened was not ascertained but it is surmised a person, or persons, leaned too heavily or were pushed against the glass.

A passerby telephoned Sarah Yarnell, 1501 South Limit avenue, office manager, and Lynn Russell, 405 Dal-Whi-Mo, designman, both of whom came immediately to the store.

The fragments of broken glass were swept up and a cover placed over the otherwise unprotected front. A night watchman was posted to keep an eye on the store until the new glass is put in.

George Dugan, of Dugan's Wall Paper and Paint Co., stated a new glass would cost $85.00 and added that both the glass and repairs were covered by insurance.

Police were unable to locate the person, or persons, responsible.

Report Attempt To Entice Girls

Parents of small girls are requested to keep close watch on them and those of school age are warned not to pay any attention to any stranger who might try to entice them by offering them candy or money. A man dressed in the uniform of a sollier, Wednesday, tried to entice a nine year old and a six year old sister to go with him into an alley.

The incident occurred near the business district Wednesday morning, but was not reported to the police until 7:15 o'clock that night as the mother was away from home and at work, at a local shoe factory. The older child told the story to her mother when she returned home.

The man, it was reported, tried to entice the six year old girl away, but her older sister realizing something wrong would not let her younger sister go with him. The man, then offered her money and candy, but she likewise refused.

This is the first report of any such incident in Sedalia in several months. If any other like accosting is known to have been made it is requested by police it be reported to them, and a description of the party given.

Description of the man as given Wednesday was: dressed in soldier's uniform, five and a half to six feet tall and "funny looking" eyes.

Disagree Over Issue On Spain

Britain And Russia Apart As To Contention From Poland

By CHARLES A. GRUMICH

NEW YORK, April 18—(AP)—Great Britain and Russia sharply disagreed in the United Nations Security Council today over Poland's picture of Spain as a Nazi-inspired menace to peace.

They disagreed also as to the properity and wisdom of collective Council action against the regime of Generalissimo Francisco Franco.

Soviet delegate Andrei Gromyko joined Russia with Poland, France and Mexico in favor of a concerted break in diplomatic relations with Madrid.

Sir Alexander Cadogan lined Britain up with the Netherlands and Brazil in opposition to the Polish proposal charging Spain is a potentially explosive threat to France and a long-range menace to the world in the atomic age.

Lt.-Col. W. R. Hodgson, the Australian delegate, offered an amendment to the Polish resolution for a break with Spain, asking that a five-man sub-committee investigate the Spanish situation and report back to the Council by May 17.

Hodgson made no mention of Franco's recent invitation offering "friendly" nations represented on the Council to send investigators to Spain to see for themselves whether Germans are experimenting on new war weapons there. Those five "friendly" nations having diplomatic relations with Spain are the United States, Britain, the Netherlands, Egypt and Brazil.

The Council adjourned until 3 p. m. next Tuesday after more than three hours' debate without reaching any decision on either the pending Spanish or Iranian issues and without acting on Hodgson's amendment.

After two sessions of debate on Spain the lineup showed Poland, Mexico, France and Russia favoring a diplomatic break with Franco; the Netherlands, Britain and Brazil stoutly against such a move; the United States and China uncommitteed; Australia sponsoring further subsidiary investigation, and Egypt thus far unheard. Poland needs seven affirmative votes out of the eleven to carry her motion.

Disagreement on another phase was announced tonight in a report from the council's committee of experts, who disclosed they were unable to agree on an opinion called for by Secretary-General Trygve Lie's suggestion that the Council could not legally pursue the Iranian issue after Iran withdrew her complaint against Russia.

The experts on procedure were split eight to three, with Russia, Poland and France holding that the case must be dismissed.

In answer to Spanish Republican charges, which were relayed to the Council yesterday by Lange, that between 250,000 and 450,000 Franco troops were massed in depth to the French frontier, Cadogan said:

"I can only say that the figure he quoted is considerably in excess of the estimate which my government possesses."

He declared the attitude of Spain thus far has been "cooperative and compares favorably with that of other neutral governments" in transferring German assets to Allied control.

He said diplomatic missions in Spain were taking steps to uproot German influence there.

Increase Price Of Refrigerators

WASHINGTON, April 18—(AP)—OPA today raised retail price ceilings on new refrigerators by four per cent over March, 1942 levels to offset higher production costs.

The agency granted manufacturers an eight per cent increase, which it said will be reflected in full at retail.

The retail price hike is less on a percentage basis than the manufacturers' increase because the latter adjustment is being passed on in the exact dollar-and-cent amount rather than on a markup basis.

Easter Recess For House

WASHINGTON, April 18—(AP)—The House voted unanimously today to take an Easter recess which will continue until Tuesday, April 30.

The Senate—which has no prospects for a similar holiday—immediately gave its required consent to the House action. The Representatives hoped to dispose of pending business before nightfall.

Command By Gen. Marshall In Truce Move

To Head Effort To End Strife In Manchuria

By HAROLD K. MILKS

CHUNGKING, April 18—(AP)—General Marshall took personal command today of efforts to end Manchuria's "little civil war," raging to a climax in Changchun with prospects of a Chinese Communist victory soon.

As Marshall arrived here and announced he would plunge at once into truce conversations, government dispatches admitted the Communists had seized most of the Manchurian capital.

It was asserted that up until 6 p. m. Wednesday the government garrison of less than 4,000 men still held out, presumably in the hastily-fortified center of Changchun—a city of 415,000 population.

As an estimated 40,000 Communist troops assaulted with artillery, mortars, and machineguns, transport planes of the Chinese air force flew over the metropolitan battleground to drop food and ammunition to the embattled garrison.

Military sources here said the government had refrained from throwing combat planes into the struggle.

Look For Agreement

The mere presence of Marshall, special U. S. envoy to China, prompted some political observers to assert that some kind of an agreement would be reached speedily.

It was known that both the Communists and the government had anxiously awaited the general's arrival in the hope of reaching a face-saving compromise.

Marshall, arriving by plane with his wife from Peiping, told reporters he would have nothing to say about either his trip to Washington or developments in China "until I have a chance to talk to all factions."

He scheduled a series of conferences for Friday with heads of the government, Chinese Communist leaders, and officials of the United States embassy.

There was no late word, meanwhile from five United States correspondents and two U. S. army men who entered Changchun several days ago.

Associated Press Correspondent Tom Masterson said in a Changchun dispatch Wednesday that the Communists had captured the Yamato hotel, where Maj. Robert B. Rigg, Chicago, assistant military attache, and his pilot, Sgt. Clayton Pond, Portland, Ore., were staying.

Masterson said the other correspondents, staying at the mayor's residence, had not heard from Rigg or Pond since Monday because the telephone line to the hotel was cut.

(A spokesman for the state department in Washington said the U. S. consul at Mukden had advised Thursday morning that the two army men and the five correspondents were "safe and sound," but it was not known whether the consul's cable was sent before or after Masterson's dispatch.)

Military sources in Chungking thought it possible the Chinese first army, fighting up from the south, might reach the capital within five days.

Be Official Of Danville Fair

R. W. "Duke" Molesworth, a former publicity manager for the Missouri State Fair, and more recently engaged in publicity and promotion work, has taken a position as manager for the Danville (Ill.,) fair and will soon enter into the work of completing preparations for that exposition.

The Danville fair several years ago was designated the Illinois-Indiana fair at Danville but no fair had been held since before the world war period and it is now being revived as the Danville fair with eight days to run. They are July 28 to August 3.

Mr. Molesworth arrived here Thursday and Saturday will be joined by Mrs. Molesworth, who will come from Kansas City to join him for a week-end Easter visit with relatives and friend.

Mr. Molesworth is thoroughly familiar with fair and amusement activities.

Ten Shirtless Men Protest Shortage

NEW YORK, April 18—(AP)—Ten shirtless men visited Civilian Production Administration Offices today to protest the shirt shortage.

"If all the white shirts were taken out of haberdashery windows, said the spokesman, Michael Bartlett, an ex-marine, 'there would be enough for all the veterans."

When the men left they covered their chests with scarves, dickeys and sweaters.

Twelve Killed In Mine Blast

RADFORD, Va., April 18—(AP)—A deep-level blast killed twelve coal miners today at the Great Valley Anthracite Corporation's Mine at nearby McCoy, Va.

The mid-morning explosion caught the miners at the lowest level of a shaft that runs under the bed of New River, separating Montgomery and Pulaski counties in Virginia's southwest corner. One of the twelve, Paul Price of the McCoy community was brought out alive but died shortly thereafter at Radford Community Hospital.

All of the bodies were badly burned but were recognizable.

May Cut Hog Production

Reduction Of Five Per Cent Is Possibility

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON, April 18—(AP)—Because of the acute shortage of food and livestock feed grains here and abroad, the government is expected soon to request farmers to cut hog production by at least five percent below last year's level.

The reduction, if carried out, would be reflected in still smaller supplies of pork during the spring and summer of 1947. The department has said that civilian supplies of meat during the next several months will be at wartime ration levels.

The reduction in the yield of pork from a five percent smaller fall pig crop would probably be much greater than five percent, because the scarcity of grains is expected to lead to marketing of hogs at lighter weights.

Plans for curtailment in pork production were being made as the department issued a report stating that the current feed grain shortage is more acute in many areas of the country than in any year since the serious droughts of 1934 and 1936.

The appeal for fewer hogs would parallel a request already made for 12 percent fewer chickens this year. Hatchery reports indicate that poultry production will be lower.

Goal Of 33,400,000

The government's goal for the coming fall pig crop has been set tentatively at about 33,400,000 head compared with 35,155,000 raised last fall. This goal would be about 30 per cent below the record fall crop of 1943.

The feed report pointed out that the situation this year is aggravated by the fact that only very small quantities of feed grain can be obtained from Canada or other countries. During the war, domestic supplies were padded out by imports.

"To a great extent," the department said, "the strong demand for feed is traceable to high rates of feeding which in turn are largely the result of favorable livestock feed price ratios.' '

The famine committee recommended that feed grain prices be increased to discourage excessive feeding of grain to livestock.

The reduction in production of pigs would be accomplished by breeding about five percent fewer sows. Unbred sows would be available for slaughter this summer.

UN Quarters To Long Island

WASHINGTON, April 19—(AP)—The war assets administration announced today it had granted the United Nations a three year lease, with two-year renewal privilege, in two government-erected buildings of the Sperry Gyroscope company, Lake Success, Long Island, N. Y.

The United Nations Organization will occupy approximately 647,824 square feet of space in the two buildings, with the United States government to get approximately $202,831 net on annual rental.

Coincident with the lease to the UN, the Sperry Company was given a similar three year lease, with renewal option, for the remainder of the plants at Lake Success. Sperry will have the right to buy the property, subject to the UN lease, for $9,500,000.

Break-Up For Holding Company

NEW YORK, April 18—(AP)—In one of the biggest corporate breakups in history, the North American Company, a billion dollar holding company, announced today a proposal to distribute all of its holdings except the Union Electric Company of Missouri and the Illinois Power Company.

A three-phase dissolution program was filed by the company with the Securities and Exchange Commission.

The action was taken following the upholding of the "death sentence" clause of the public utility holding company act by the supreme court on April 1.

Telegraph Hoover To Return

Truman Wants Him To Tell American People Need for Food for Europe

WASHINGTON, April 18—(AP)—President Truman told nearly 300 editors today that the world food crisis is "worse than it has been painted." Earlier he had asked Herbert Hoover to hurry home and urge Americans to step up their aid.

White House Press Secretary Charles G. Ross told reporters after the closed, off-the-record session with members of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, that the President had given permission for his description to be quoted directly.

The President, Ross said, told the editors he wished that they could go to the starvation areas of Europe and Asia and see for themselves just how bad conditions are.

The conference lasted more than a half-hour. Ross said more than half of the questions dealt with the crucial food situation.

Asked by one editor if the food situation was as black as it has been painted, Ross said the President replied it was 'worse."

Mr. Truman told the editors that Mr. Hoover, whom he asked today to return home at once from Egypt to present "forcibly and dramatically" the European food picture, had done a fine job abroad.

In another step of the famine relief program, the President today appealed to farmers and other holders of wheat to deliver their grain now under a plan aimed to protect them if prices rise later.

Been Touring Europe

Hoover has been touring Europe as honorary chairman of the famine emergency committee. He is now in Cairo and had been expected to go from there to India, China and Japan. Mr. Truman proposed in a telegram to Hoover that he return to the United States before proceeding to the Orient.

Mr. Truman and Hoover will go on the air tomorrow night at 7:15 p. m. EST., (6:15 p. m. CST) to tell the entire world of hunger conditions in other lands. Hoover will speak from overseas.

The President's telegram to Hoover went out as a British-Canadian deadlock over ways to ease the world food crisis held up an order putting the United States on a diet of less bread and flour.

Appeal to Farmers

Mr. Truman also appealed to farmers, grain cooperatives and other handlers of wheat to help make the "wheat certificate plan" work and get the grain from farms to ships.

The plan will permit farmers to obtain certificates for delivery of grain, but receive pay for it at some later date at the price then in effect.

In a telegram to N. W. Thatcher, president of the National Federation of Grain Cooperatives, St. Paul, Mr. Truman said:

"I want all the farmers in the Northwest and in the nation to know that their government is earnestly backing the program of sending wheat abroad to help those peoples who now are facing the dangers of mass famine. The wheat certificate plan, if widely accepted by farmers, can become a powerful instrument in getting wheat off the farms into ships for export.

Strong for Plan

"I am strongly for this plan. It is carefully drawn to safeguard the interests of the wheat growers. Now that it has been adopted I ask all farmers who hold wheat and all grain cooperatives and other handlers to give their collective help in making it work out in practice to produce the actual wheat that is so deeply needed. All those who give that help will earn the gratitude of hungry people in many lands."

British, Canadian and U. S. representatives on the combined food board met yesterday, but failed to agree on what each country should do to provide more wheat and flour for relief feeding.

A. E. Mahin Is Severely Injured

Arthur E. Mahin, aged 24 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Mahin, five miles southwest of LaMonte, was severely injured about 6 o'clock Thursday evening at the Mahin farm, when operating a mechanical post hole digger.

The device is operated from a tractor hook-up and in some manner his clothing was caught in the power take-off shaft throwing him forcibly against the machine and he sustained injuries including lacerations, bruises and contusions about the abdominal part of the body.

He was rushed to the Bothwell hospital here in the Parker ambulance, which had been called from LaMonte, and Dr. M. P. Shy attended him, some of the injuries necessitating taking several stitches to close wounds inflicted.

Family members came to the hospital also to remain until something was ascertained as to the extent of his injuries.

It may be a day, or two, before it can be determined definitely whether any internal developments will hinder his speedy recovery.

Judicial Arm Of UN Formed

Dissolution Of League Of Nations Thursday Night

THE HAGUE, April 18—(AP)—The International Court of Justice, the judicial arm of the United Nations, was organized at the Hague today as the dying League of Nations in Geneva formally dissolved the new tribunal's predecessor, the old World Court.

Royalty, diplomats, and representatives of the United Nations watched the ceremonies in the peace palace of the Hague, seat of the old World Court, which will be occupied by the new tribunal. From the League of Nations the new court received a message of congratulations.

Paul-Henri Spaak of Belgium, president of the United Nations general assembly, told the newly-assembled international jurists "we are looking forward to 'the day when jurisdiction of your court will be obligatory for all nations."

Jose Gustavo Guerrero, president of the new court and last president of the old permanent court of International Justice, led each of the black robed, white-bibbed jurists as they repeated in turn:

"I solemnly declared that I will perform my duties and exercise my powers to judge honorably, faithfully, impartially and conscientiously." No oath was administered.

Guerrero expressed the hope that international loyalty to principles of peace and settlement of differences would enable the new court to succeed.

League Of Nations Expires

By ROBERT C. WILSON

GENEVA, April 18—(AP)—The League of Nations, created to preserve peace after a world cataclysm, expired tonight and willed to the United Nations its physical assets in the hope that the new organization might succeed where the League had failed.

It had lived 26 years.

Delegates from 34 nations, outnumbered by spectators in the galleries, witnessed the death of the first major peace organization of the 20th century.

Quietly, the delegates answered "yes" to a roll call on a motion providing that "with effect from the day following the close of the present session of the assembly, the League of Nations shall cease to exist except for the sole purpose of the liquidation of its affairs."

At 5:43 p. m. (11:43 p. m., central standard time) Carl J. Hambro of Norway, president of the assembly, pounded his gavel and solemnly announced:

"I declare the 21st and last session of the general assembly of the League of Nations closed."

Thus ended at midnight tonight the life of the peace organization conceived largely by President Wilson, but never joined by the United States.

Its legal existence dated from the entry into force of the treaty of Versailles on Jan. 10, 1920.

OPA., Bill Battered By House To Senate With Fate Unknown

Split In GOP Ranks On The British Loan

Support From Stanfill While Langer Opposes

WASHINGTON, April 18—(AP)—A Republican split over the $3,750,000,000 British loan came to the surface in the senate today with Senator Stanfill (R-Ky) announcing support of the measure and Senator Langer (R-ND) assailing it as a "fantastic proposition."

Polls have indicated that the senate Republicans will split about evenly on the issue.

Stanfill made it plain that he joins the supporters with some reluctance and largely because he feels that 'in this atomic age we may not have any other friend" but Britain.

Langer tore into the loan proposal in a desk-thumping speech. He complained that the British loan total is twice the amount of annual collections of federal taxes by this country before the war. It is being made, he said, in the face of the fact that a third of all American families are forced to live on $1,000 or less a year.

Stanfill, who had not announced his views previously, told his colleagues there are a lot of reasons he could think of to oppose the financial arrangements. But he said these are overbalanced by the trade opportunities offered to the United States and by his feeling that the two great democracies of the world ought to stand together, short of a military alliance which he opposes.

Could Use Balances

In return for the loan, the British promise to unlock the sterling balances which empire countries and other nations hold with them to open the way for competitive world trade.

Stanfill remarked that if this sterling restriction is not lifted, Australia, for instance, could use the balances she piled up in London during the war to purchase Egyptian cotton but could not use that money to trade with American cotton growers.

He mentioned tobacco, meat and manufactured products as similarly affected.

Declaring that "no banker would make this loan," Stanfill proposed that the government reduce the interest on veterans' loans to the 2 percent which the British will begin paying in 1951 on the amount of money they have drawn up to that time out of the $3,750,000,000 total.

Operators Tire Of Waiting

WASHINGTON, April 18—(AP)—Soft coal operators, tired of waiting for the government to revive collapsed negotiations with John L. Lewis, today went home for an indefinite stay.

Lewis, who led his United Mine Workers' negotiating committee out of the contract conferences April 10, had no immediate comment. Neither did Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach, who has been trying to re-start the negotiations since they were broken off.

The operators said they would return when Schwellenbach "thought it would be possible to negotiate a contract."

Even as the operators retired from the field of negotiation, U. S. Steel Corp. subsidiaries reported additional cutbacks in production had pushed the number idle by the coal strike past 44,000 with still other thousands due to be furloughed the first of the week.

With 20,000 workmen already sent home, Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corp. said it would slash its steel-making rate from an estimated 45 percent this week to 26 next week.

Senate Passes Anti-Poll Tax Bill

WASHINGTON, April 18—(AP)—The anti-poll tax bill, target of many a southern filibuster, almost passed the senate today by unanimous consent with three members present.

Senator Morse (R-Ore) a sponsor of the legislation, saw his chance when only himself, Senator Langer (R-ND), and Senator Magnuson (D-Wash), who was presiding, were left in the chamber.

Langer was speaking against the proposed British loan. Morse asked him to yield briefly so he could move passage of the anti-poll tax measure by unanimous consent.

At the last moment, Senator Mc Farland (D-Ariz) dashed in and shouted his objection, ending the parliamentary maneuvering.

President In Hopes The Action There Will Be More Favorable

WASHINGTON, April 18—(AP)—Paul Porter, backed into a corner by house passage today of a bill chopping great gaps in OPA powers, fought back tonight with an assertion that the measure would require removal of ceilings from "commodities making up at least half the cost of living."

The price administrator's statement particularly mentioned such items as coal, shoes, wool and rayon textiles, meats and milk as articles which would have to come out from under controls if the house decision prevails.

WASHINGTON, April 18—(AP)—The house completed its battering of the OPA today and sent it reeling to an uncertain fate in the senate.

Stabilization Director Chester Bowles conferred for 35 minutes with President Truman and told reporters he did not see how price controls could be maintained under the restrictions in the bill as finally passed by the house 355 to 42.

The President's Secretary, Charles G. Ross, said Mr. Truman "hopes for much better results in the senate." Asked whether the President had any comment on the house action Ross replied: "Not for print."

"Fair" was the way senate Democratic Leader Barkley of Kentucky estimated the chances of the senate's approving a full year's extension for the OPA without crippling amendments.

The house bill continues OPA for only nine months, repeals some of its orders, cuts down subsidy payments and stops them entirely Jan. 1, and requires price ceilings to be revised to guarantee cost plus a "reasonable profit."

Concessions Assured

Even in the event the senate gives the administration everything it asks, it seems certain that some concessions will have to be made to the house, of a compromise nature, when the measure goes to a conference of the two chambers' representatives. The difference between a nine-month and a one-year extension might be split at ten and one-half months, for example, and a part of the house restrictions might be dropped in return for the retention of others.

The President, no matter how little he may like what congress finally sends him, will have little time for any experiment to see whether a veto will get a more acceptable bill through congress. The OPA will expire completely June 30 unless some sort of extension legislation is enacted. Bowles after his White House call would not predict what the President may do if the pending bill goes through, nor say whether he himself will resign in protest.

Administration leaders fully expect a fight in the senate. Farm-state members are determined to exempt certain commodities from price control. Chairman Thomas (D-Okla) of the agriculture committee favors dropping controls on everything except rents and liquor.

The house bill may not come to a vote in the senate unless some member who approves it in entirety seeks its adoption.

The senate banking committee is working on its own version of an OPA bill, and this will be the one the senate considers.

Bowles termed the measure "impossible" after a 35-minute conference with the President.

Asked by White House reporters if he would resign in the event it passes both houses in its present form, he would not say. He

Those in charge of this project hope to attain an amount of $3,000 by the first of May.

Cpl. Eckles is still in O'Reilly general hospital in Springfield where he is being prepared for another operation that it is hoped will help him regain the use of his left arm and hand. R. L. Ream, the past weekend was arrested by Sheriff Ed Goetz on a warrant charging him with the possession of a gambling device, a punch board, on which Harlan Morris was allowed to gamble. Ream was released on a $1,000 bond, to appear in court. The date for the trial has not been set.

As to the "pool hall signs," it has been a custom when a minor went into the place a note from the boy's parents had to be given the proprietor and then he was permitted to play pool. However, the state law states minors are not allowed in any of these places, under any circumstance, it was said.

Pfc. James L. Leslie Writes his Mother Telling of Tidal Wave

Mrs. L. E. Leslie 1003 East Sixteenth street, received a letter from her son, Pfc. James L. Leslie, who is stationed at Kiena Point, the northwest point on Oahu, in which he told of the recent tidal wave.

The letter follows in part:

"I woke up mysteriously, noticed the water was at top of beach. It was too high, but I didn't pay too much attention until I saw the edge had gone clear out beyond the reefs, about 1½ miles of dry seabottom. I dressed, went outside and there were a few standing and marveling. The second wave came. It busted one barrack in half and tore a little building up. That shook us but we figured that was it. I went in my barracks gathering up a few valuables, and took the radio over and set it on the railroad tracks, I never saw it afterward. The water went inside my barracks but receded again, still farther. I then went through the mess hall and out the other side. We were standing on the beach watching. It started back, kept coming. I walked, then stopped, looked, walked faster, looked again and then ran past mess hall up the slope to the mountain. Passed two barbed wire fences. I was just about ten yards ahead of the water and seemed to be crawling. The buildings were demolished and swept away completely, like a giant broom doing the job. It was too fast and I never thought a lick, only instinct.

Looked For Casualties

"Lt. Yoder told me to look for casualties in the wreckage which I did, hoping I wouldn't find any I didn't. From then things are blurred but I remember tramping and yelling and poking and yelling and yelling and tramping. I couldn't even decide where my barracks had been. It is clean as a whistle.

"There were several reported waves but although they didn't pan out we climbed mountains. We called ambulances. There were five injured two very badly. We were a pitiful sight on the side of that hill all grouped around and the wounded under us. I felt disgustingly helpless. We thought the ambulances would never come. Five did. We didn't know the score and started searching again. Found out two were missing. One was miracuously washed out to sea and then back—still alive. We went to F. Shafter about 3 and got clothed and fed.

"I still can't figure out how I got through two barbed wire fences and as far as I did as fast as I did. I must really have been traveling. We are all immeasurably lucky on every count. I am in perfect shape except for scratches on my hand and one on one of my legs from the wire."

Post War Value On Insurance Of Veterans

Service Officer In Court House Has Information

The vast majority of the men and women in the armed services in World War II took out anywhere from $1,000 to $10,000 in National Service Life Insurance. Now they are pouring back into civilian life, many with only the haziest notion of what to do about these insurance policies.

Payments often are neglected. The veteran forgets that the monthly premiums he must send in to keep his insurance in effect no longer are deducted automatically from his salary. Policies have lapsed and frequently the owner doesn't know they can be reinstated without much effort.

The veteran who lets go of his National Service Life Insurance through carelessness is missing a good bet. One executive of a private insurance company estimates he would have to sell a man a $13,800 policy to equal the protection and other privileges the veteran received from a $10,000 National Service Life Policy.

The veteran should remember two things: His premiums must be paid directly to the Veterans' Administration; and within a certain period he must convert from straight term to one of three forms of life insurance. But he will not have to do that for some time, and the veteran will be smart to carry his insurance as it now is until he knows definitely the type and amount of permanent insurance he can afford.

Ordinarily a premium is due the first of the month following a veteran's separation. If he doesn't remember how much his monthly premium was, he can find it on the back of his army discharge form or Navy No. 553 separation sheet.

Then he should mail his premiums to the Collections Subdivision, Veterans' Administration, Washington 25, D. C. He can pay monthly, quarterly, semi-annually or annually.

31-Day Grace Period

The veteran should continue to make these payments regularly—by check or money order, payable to the Treasurer of the United States, if he mails them in—whether or not he receives a notice. He has a 31-day period beyond the due date in which to make payment. Then, if he hasn't paid, his policy becomes void. By methods to be explained later, he can have it put in effect again.

The above applies to the insurance the veteran carried while he was in service. The government calls it five-year level premium term insurance. Such insurance has not accumulated value. The veteran can't borrow money on it. The government is, in effect, simply betting the veteran that he won't die during the time the policy is in effect.

Now, if he wants, the veteran can keep that term insurance for eight years from the date he got it, if that was on or before December 31, 1945. If his policy was issued after that date, he can hold onto it for five years. Then he must either let it drop or convert it to one of the three following kinds of insurance:

Ordinary Life Insurance—the monthly premiums here are the lowest of the three, but they last throughout the lifetime of the veteran. The rate is determined by the age of the veteran when he makes the conversion and is, of course, more than he paid for the term insurance. If his nearest birthday is 25, he will be charged $1.37 a month for each thousand dollars; if he is 30, it will be $1.56; if he is 35, $1.80.

Thirty payment Life—the monthly premiums here are higher than for ordinary life, but at the end of 30 years they stop. Then the veteran has a paid-up policy. If his nearest birthday is 25, he will be charged $1.67 a month for each thousand dollars of this type of insurance; if he is 30, it will be $1.83; if he is 35, $2.03.

Twenty Payment Life—The veteran must pay the highest monthly premiums for this, but he will be all through paying after 20 years. If his nearest birthday is 25, he will be charged $2.12 a month for each thousand dollars of this insurance; if he is 30, it will be $2.31; if he is 35, $2.53.

Borrowing Privileges

The veteran cannot convert his term insurance to one of these three until it has been in force for one year, either in or out of service. But when he does, he will find his new policy gives him a number of benefits he did not have with term insurance.

Under any of the three, the policy will have a cash value, which increases with each full year of premium payments. He can borrow, if the need arises, up to 94 per cent of this cash value. It varies with the size of the premium payments, which in turn depend on the age of the veteran when he converted his insurance. A man who was 25 when he converted to a 20-payment life policy, and paid his premium for 10 years, would have a cash value of $208.95 on each thousand dollars of insurance.

For further information or advice, whether it might be for conversion to one of the three above listed policies or for sending in premiums on the present five-year level premium term insurance, you may contact the Assistant State Service Officer, located second floor, Pettis County court house, Sedalia, Missouri, any Monday through Saturday noon.

Annual Meet Dairy Herd Association

The annual meeting of the Pettis County Dairy Herd Improvement will be held at the court room in the court house at Sedalia on Tuesday night, April 16, beginning at 8:00 p. m.

The Pettis County Association at present consists of nine dairy herds with 152 cows belonging to S. G. Monsees, E. C. Stevens, Marvin Goodwin, Lee Dow, Eugene Helman, William P. McCune, J. E. and L. E. Funk, Henry Alt, and Earl Wood. Officers for the association are E. C. Stepens, president; Marvin Goodwin, vice president; Lee Dow, secretary; and William McCune, and S. G. Monsees, director. Mrs. R. S. Caldwell of Columbia has been the tester for the herds in the association.

At the annual meeting to be held in the hourt house Tuesday, April 16, the annual report of the tester will be discussed. Hiring a tester for the coming year will be another matter of business for the annual meeting. E. T. Itschner, extension dairyman of the University of Missouri, will attend and present a prospect for the position of tester.

Have Acrurate Records

By being members of the association are E. C. Stevens, presi- production and butterfat records of all the cows in their herds. Information such as this aids materially in culling cows from the herd. With dairy cows, as well as with other classes of livestock, the non-profitable animals frequently "eat up" profits realized from more productive animals. To know which animals to remove from herds well determine whether or not the dairy business is a profitable one.

Considering the continuously growing demand for dairyproducts in this area and the tight feed situation, especially this year, more dairymen will want to know what the cows in their herds are producing so they will know which ones to eliminate. Even though feed were more plentiful this would still be a valuable record for any dairy cow owner.

A tester for a Dairy Herd Improvement Association can take care of a considerably larger number of herds than are now in the Pettis County Association.

The other legend was when a man wore a lilac in the buttonhole of his coat it signified that he was happily married and was out of circulation.

Education As Peace Force

W. E. Goslin Says It Has Been On Down Hill Grade

JEFFERSON CITY, April 18—(AP)—A Minneapolis school superintendent told members of Missouri school boards today American education has been on the "down hill grade for the last ten years" because of the "aunt susies the school boards have employed."

The Superintendent, Williard E. Goslin, explained that the quality of teachers had become so low that he believes education as a force for democracy was threatened.

Urging the 125 school board members to return to their Missouri communities with a desire to explain to fellow citizens the part education must play as a force for peace in a troubled world, Goslin said," I wonder, however, whether there's much future for a people spending three times as much money on alcohol or five times as much money on horse racing as on education."

He said he "wasn't especially opposed to people spending money for such things," but thought more should be spent on the children of the nation.

Urge Good Staffs

"American education is dying on the vine because we do not have as good staffs as we had ten years ago in our schools."

He said school board members should see to it their schools teach students the fundamentals for understanding world peace, extension of democracy in America and conservation of natural resources necessary to the American standard of living.

"That is the least we can do for the 300,000 American boys who laid their lives on the line for democracy."

The association elected these officers and directors:

Mrs. Irma Friede of St. Louis to replace Dr. Frank L. Wright of Webster Groves as president; O. D. Blakemore of Columbia succeeding Butler Disman of Kansas City as vice-president, and W. P. Strube of Hannibal, Dr. A. C. McGill of Cape Girardeau, Ferd Bates of Liberty, W. H. Dickson of California and L. G. Jones of Monett to board of directors.

The association also doubled membership assessments of school districts and arranged for the appointment of an executive secretary at a later date.

OPA Bill Battered By House To Senate With Fate Uncertain

did say, sowever, that he did not see "what could be done" to main price controls under it.

Wants Price Control

As to whether there was any discussion of a vet with the President, he told reporters he couldn't say.

"We want price control," he declared. "Price control would be impossible as the bill stands now."

Major Clauses

The bill's major clauses now call for prices guaranteeing "reasonable profit" to all manufacturers and distributors; scrapping government food subsidies; repeal of the low-cost clothing production program, and an end to the "cost absorption" controls limiting prices on autos, radios and the like.

Economic Stabilizer Chester Bowles deplored the House measure as the beginning of "a joy-ride toward economic disaster." OPA Chief Paul Porter said if the House Action is sustained by the Senate it "amounts to repeal of price control."

But the house, having missed out on a final vote late last night after a stormy marathon session, expected to toss the bill as is over to the Senate in short order. Whether it will fare better in that body was problematical.

Indeed, so great was President Truman's congressional set-back on economic policy that rumors swept the capitol that both Bowles and Porter would resign. However, Bowles went on a radio network and declared he expected to "see this thing through to the finish"

Expect Resignation

Nevertheless, close friends of the two men predicted privately later that they would resign "without question" should the House bill become law.

"What possible reason would they have for staying on?" asked one associate. "What was left certainly wouldn't be price control."

Only rent control survived the House rebellion unscathed. The chamber beat back all efforts to revise rent ceilings.

"You have murdered OPA," Rep. Sabath (D-Ill.) shouted at his colleagues.

The Easy Way

FALLON, Nev., April 18.—(AP)—Experienced fishermen were out in full force when the trout season opened, but the day's biggest catch went to small fry.

Ten-year-old Ronnie Willhite and his pup "Ruff" were fishing in an irrigation ditch when Ruff spied a trout in the shallow water and chased the fish to shore. There Ronnie joined the fray and came up with a six-pound, 15-ounce trout in his bare hands.

To Sleep or Not to Sleep Is Question

By the Associated Press

To sleep or not to sleep that extra hour during the summer months is being debated by a number of Missouri cities.

Jefferson City residents had the matter decided last night when the council voted to move the clocks up an hour at 2 a. m. April 28. It will be in effect in the capital city until Sept. 29.

Several cities, among them Marshall, have requested Gov. Phil M. Donnelly to adopt daylight saving time in the state, but the chief executive said he had no authority empowering him to do that.

Several cities have been guided by sentiment expressed in straw votes. The Poplar Bluff city council dropped the matter after a poll showed a majority in favor of no change. A straw vote at Fulton favored the change, the council drafted an ordinance but the matter was tabled until April 25 when additional opposition showed up.

The council in Kansas City is drafting an ordinance, but before the body acts public hearings will be held. Kirksville is taking a poll. Cape Girardeau was in the midst of one when the city council voted not to adopt daylight saving time.

Hoover Sees Critical Situation in Greece

ATHENS, April 17.—(AP)—Herbert Hoover declared today food ships should be diverted from Britain to relieve the critical food situation in Greece, which he termed the worst he had seen since he had left Poland.

He expressed faith in the UNRRA organization in Greece, describing it as "very efficient and capable."

Hoover said he would release a report on the whole European food situation upon his arrival in Cairo later this week.

Girl Marries Former WAC

TACOMA, Wash., April 18.—(AP)—Attractive Marlys Converse, 18-year-old singer, who married and lived as the wife of a former WAC masquerading as a man, says her next suitor "will have to grow a beard before I accept him."

"My 'husband' told me he never shaved because he was too young," Miss Converse continued. "I guess I've been a dope."

Deputy Sheriff Sig Kittleson said that Margaret Hurst, 29, alias Jerome Hurst, and Miss Converse met in his office yesterday and that Margaret admitted having "married" the tiny, blonde Marlys March 4 at Vancouver, Wash. Miss Hurst was wanted here as a violator of a 15-year suspended sentence on a larceny-forgery conviction.

Kelso police who picked up the former WAC Sergeant, after finding her working in her uniform in a restaurant, said she spent nearly four days in the Kelso jail with several men inmates, playing poker with them and winning their tobacco and cigarettes and some $40 cash.

Tacoma authorities, searching for the Hurst woman on a check forgery charge, got in touch with Kelso police, Kittleson said. An examination was ordered and the prisoner turned out to be the woman wanted here.

Denials Of Severe Beatings

CARROLLTON, Mo., April 18—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Roland Keltner, charged with beating, starving, wounding and injuring sixteen-year-old Randolph Fales, Jr., while he was in their care took the stand in their own defense today as the trial neared an end. The defense indicated it would be handed to the jury tomorrow.

Both the defendents testified that the boy received the same care and attention given their own two children who now are married.

Under defense questioning Keltner said he had not whipped young Fales with a rubber hose.

Q. 'He has testified that you whipped him with a rubber hose. Tell the jury about that.

A "I don't recall that at all. I whipped him at the time he broke into the Hill place with a strap. I have switched him with switches. They (children) need it."

In response to further questioning, Keltner said he had never hit the boy over three or four licks with the strap,—"until he said he would not do it any more."

Keltner refuted Fales statement that he had switched the latter with a wire.

Plane Refuels At Chicago Private Field

Believed to be One Stolen From Columbia Field

CHICAGO, April 18—(AP)—An employe of an airplane freight and charter company said today a man answering the description of the youth who took a light plane at the Columbia, Mo., airport early yesterday had landed at her firm's private airport, refueled and had taken off again.

The employe, who declined to permit the use of her name, said "We all noticed him because he acted so queerly."

Missouri state highway patrol officers said a youth identified as Vernon B. Simpson, 22, escaped Texas convict, stole a light plane at Columbia, Mo., early yesterday after knocking down an airport guard who had telephoned police. He took off over the heads of startled Columbia police who answered the guard's summons.

Meanwhile Lt. J. S. Poage of the Missouri patrol said that a pilot who landed an army training plane in a field near Nebo, Mo., in Laclede county yesterday morning might have been Simpson.

Description Similar

Flying a silver-colored ship like the one taken at Columbia, the young man got breakfast at a nearby farm house and took off about 11:30 a. m., saying he had only about 60 gallons of gasoline left. He told residents that he was flying the plane from Kansas City to St. Louis.

"It looks like we're about 24 hours late getting the information," Poage said ruefully.

WICHITA FALLS, Tex., April 18—(AP)—Texas airports today were alerted by the state police to be on the look out for a stolen plane piloted by Vernon B. Simpson, 22, who fled from the county jail here last week and escaped again from police officers at Jefferson City, Mo., Tuesday.

The young Texan escaped jail here April 9, shortly after he had been convicted in district court on charges of removing mortgaged property and sentenced to three years in the penitentiary.

He broke away from a deputy sheriff who was taking him from the courtroom to the jail after his conviction.

Phyllis Glover, 19, a companion of Simpson's at the time of his arrest, told officers he gave Monroe, Va., as his home town.

At the time of his arrest, Simpson had in his possession a submachine gun, two German lugers, 14 suit cases of clothing, a typewriter, and other items, police reported.

The sheriff's office said he faced felony charges in Dallas, Laredo, Houston, Abilene and Wharton, Texas.

Yanks Held in Hotel Taken

CHUNGKING, April 18—(AP)—The fate of an American officer and his pilot was hidden by the smoke of battle in Changchun today as Chinese Communist forces captured the Yamato hotel, where the two had been staying.

Destroyed telephone communications made impossible a check into the fate of the two — Maj. Robert B. Rigg of Chicago, assistant military attache, and M/Sgt. Clayton Pond of Portland, Ore.

News of the capture of the hotel from government forces came in a fragmentary dispatch sent from the embattled city by Associated Press correspondent Tom Masterson, cut off there with four other correspondents.

As General Marshall, special U. S. envoy, flew here in a supreme effort to bring peace to Manchuria gunfire roared through the streets of Changchun. Communist forces threatened to overwhelm completely the small national garrison fighting from sandbag defenses in the center of the city. Government planes dropped urgently-needed ammunition to the besieged force.

Tortured U. S. Prisoners

YOKOHAMA, April 18.—(AP)—Kumimitsu Yamauchi, who was civilian interpreter at Omuta prisoner of war camp, tortured American prisoners by placing burning cigarettes on their lips and dragging electrically charged wires across their backs, former prisoners testified today.

Yamauchi is charged with beating and otherwise mistreating prisoners and with being directly instrumental in the death of Cpl. Walter R. Johnson, McPherson, Kas. He pleaded innocent.

Cpl. Paul A. Thacker, of Riggold, Va., in a deposition charged that Yamauchi beat Johnson with clubs and used the "electric wire treatment" on him.

"I don't know what voltage it was," Thacker wrote, "but Johnson would scream pitifully when touched with the wire."

Sanction 16-Cent Increase

Recommendation For Railroad Engineers, Trainmen, Other Changes

WASHINGTON, April 18—(AP)—An emergency fact-finding board today recommended to President Truman a 16-cent hourly wage increase and changes in working rules for more than 200,000 railroad engineers and trainmen.

The workers, members of the Brotherhood of Engineers and Trainmen, had asked for a 25 per cent pay raise, figuring approximately 30 cents an hour.

The board's findings were made public at the White House in mid-afternoon after the three-man panel, headed by Leif Erickson, former Montana Supreme Court justice had submitted the recommendations to the president just before noon.

The board found that evidence in the case showed that the engineers and trainmen were entitled to the 16-cent hourly increase to compensate for higher living costs.

18 Per Cent Hike

The board calculated the 16-cent boost amounts to an 18 per cent increase over the January, 1941 pay rates and represents the maximum amount allowable under the wage-price formula.

For 45 days the board considered arguments for and against the union's demand for a 25 per cent wage increase, or a minimum $2.50 per day hike. More than 300 railroads are affected in the case.

The fact-finding board declined to discuss what recommendations it had made to the president. However, other government arbitration boards on April 3 recommended wage increases of 16 cents hourly for 1,250,000 other railroad workers.

Browns Lose To Detroit 6 To 1

DETROIT, April 18 (AP)—Banging out a dozen hits off four pitchers, the Detroit Tigers clipped the St. Louis Brown 6 to 1 here today as big Al Benton hurled a steady five-hitter in his first 1946 start.

Brownie third baseman Johnny Lucadello spoiled Benton's shutout by swatting the first pitch in the sixth inning for a home run. Only two other St. Louis runners got as far as second.

The Tigers, meanwhile, put together their best offensive attack of the year in taking the rubber game of the three-game opening series that attracted a total of 82,-917 cash customers.

Eddie Lake, Eddie Mayo, Barney McCosky and Hank Greenberg each connected for a pair of Tiger hits.

Greenberg's 400-foot double to center knocked in one run in the first inning and Mayo's timely single with the bases loaded was the highlight of a three-run Detroit outburst in the fourth.

Not Purchase Books Due Protest

ST. LOUIS, April 18—(AP)—The board of education has decided not to purchase 3,000 song books from a Boston Publishing Company because Negroes in the city school system have protested that some of the songs and an illustration are "offensive."

Superintendent of Instruction Phillip J. Hickey said a letter of protest came from a Negro who is a director of elementary education.

Among the songs to which objection was raised were "Shortnin' Bread," "Old Aunt Jemima," "Oh Susanna" and "Ring Ring De Banjo." The illustration for "Shortnin' Bread" showed two Negro children in bed with a Negro woman standing nearby.

Hickey said the book had been recommended for purchase by a committee of principals and teachers and was to be used by seventh and eight grade pupils.

Salad Costly, Housewife in Alaska Finds

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Apr. 18—(AP)—A housewife newly arrived from the States ordered the ingredients for one standard sized salad today without asking the prices and wound up by paying $16.20 for the dish.

With Alaskan ports closed to incoming produce by a longshoremen's strike for higher wages and retroactive pay, bananas cost 75 cents per pound, lettuce 75 cents per pound, tomatoes $1.10 each and cucumbers the same.

Freight planes are flying in some supplies and the strikers have given permission for fishing boats to carry produce north.

State Patrol Wants Plane In its Work

JEFFERSON CITY, April 18.—(AP)—Col. Hugh H. Waggoner, superintendent of the Missouri Highway Patrol, said today the Patrol had asked the General Assembly for money to purchase a twin-engined airplane with which to track down law violators.

Waggoner expressed doubt that such a ship would help halt fugitives like the one who stole a plane at the Columbia, Mo., airport yesterday. The Patrol superintendent said the pilot of the missing plane had been identified as Vernon B. Simpson, 22, former Malden, Mo., army air force instructor.

Nothing has been heard of Simpson's whereabouts, Patrol officials say, although the plane's fuel supply would have forced it down within 600 miles of Columbia.

"We don't want to start an air corps with planes mounting machine guns in their wings," Waggoner said.

A Valuable Asset

He declared, however, the plane would be valuable in locating fugitives who take to the woods or in overtaking automobiles in not readily accessable areas of the state.

Cost of the plane would come to about $10,000, the patrol head said, and would carry about four passengers. He said there were several men in the patrol, returned from army air force duty, who would be able to pilot the craft.

"We have used planes before, some from the State Guard and others from the Knob Noster Army Air Base, in locating criminals," he explained.

Waggoner said he did not know whether Rep. R. J. King (R) of Franklin county, chairman of the House appropriations committee, had approved the request, but that "several legislators suggested the idea to me and seemed to favor it."

Both the Conservation Commission and the Department of Resources and Development have also asked for money to buy planes, Waggoner said he believed.
